A BRIEF SKETCH OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE CITY OF BOSTON.

THE SECOND PERIOD.

The beginnings of the Boston Public Library were picturesque and dramatic; they were marked by imagination and daring, by co-operation from across the seas, and by the devotion of eminent men of wide fame, who seem to us to have belonged to a larger race than the men of to-day.

Yet these beginnings were small and their scope restricted, compared to the institution of to-day and its activities. Birth is, perhaps, the greatest moment in the history of an institution, but achievement comes only through growth; and the forty years from 1880 to 1920 are marked by a steadily increasing service to an ever widening public. The story seems to lack incident merely because incidents are so frequent as to have become commonplace; many an every-day occurrence of 1920 would have been a noteworthy event in 1860.

Similarly with personalities: it is hard to recognize the giants while they are our neighbors; and a list of names such as that of the founders of the Library becomes invidious when chosen from contemporaries. Yet it is not, perhaps, out of place to name Winsor, Chamberlain, Putnam, and Wadlin among librarians, Greenough, Abbott, and Benton among Trustees, Billings, Brown and John Sargent among benefactors of the second period in the history of the Library, as those by whom this period will be remembered.

One event stands out pre-eminent in this portion of the Library's story — the erection of the Copley Square building; this more than anything else in the career of the institution determined the character of the years now under review, and marked the maturity of the Library. Its construction, from the petition which secured the original gift of Commonwealth land to the opening of the doors, occupied fifteen years; the new activities made possible by the foresight of those who planned the building constitute the salient features of the period since its occupation. The realization of the ideals conceived by the Trustees and the architects involved a series of hard fights, now happily quite forgotten; the wisdom and public spirit of those conceptions have been clear from the moment the noble structure was occupied. It is no accident that in the minds of the world to-day the Boston Public Library is first of all a great building; the building is the fullest expression of the best dreams of its founders and those who worthily followed them and took up their burden and their vocation.

It was in 1880 that the Commonwealth made the grant of land as the site for a new library building on the corner of Dartmouth and Boylston Streets. A number of years were spent upon tentative plans by various architects, upon estimates based on insufficient data, and upon discussion of ways and means. It is a reasonable statement that it required at least seven years for the Trustees to grasp the possibilities of the new site, and to form a mental picture of the kind of building that would at once satisfy the needs of the present and open the way for the finest possible development in the future. From the standpoint of to-day, when public libraries are an old story, it is impossible to realize the creative character of the task which the Trustees set themselves, thirty-five years ago. There was no such institution in the world as the Boston Public Library had begun to be, under the inspired leadership of its founders; many libraries had followed in its footsteps, but it had continued to lead, and it had no model. Furthermore, there was no such library building anywhere as this must be — a library of the largest size, catering at once to students and to borrowers, serving the entire varied population of a great city, whom it must seek at once to educate and to entertain. It is no wonder that architect after architect was consulted, that plan after plan was made and discarded, and that it was hard to carry the public forward, as the vision of the Trustees widened.

The Trustees at last decided upon McKim, Mead & White, of New York, as the architects best qualified to design the new building, and from 1887 on, the work made steady progress; but even these final architects, with the experiments of their predecessors before them, took more than a year to develop a plan that promised to be at all adequate for the dream of the Trustees. Additional land had been procured soon after the original grant from the Commonwealth, so as to give a broad frontage on Copley Square; but two successive foundations were laid, and the interior arrangement adopted, before the exterior was fully designed.

The construction went on steadily after the laying of the corner-stone in 1888, until the occupation of the building in the spring of 1895. When the first million dollars had been nearly spent, it was discovered that the estimates had been only about half large enough to cover the whole cost, and the additional money, bringing the total to $2,550,000, was obtained at the expense of some hard feeling. But no one ever charged that the City did not get its money's worth, and since the completion of the building the feeling has been unanimous that the City has never spent money to better advantage.

For, as stated above, the building has made the Library. Once for all, that union of the functions of reference and circulation on a large scale, in which the Boston Public Library was the pioneer, was made permanent by the arrangement of the interior. The old building divided the Library into a popular branch on the lower floor, and a serious branch in Bates Hall; to-day, the two are one, and the reader calls alike for the latest fiction in Bates Hall, and for the most abstruse treatises in the Delivery Room; one is reading-room, the other is issue department; but both draw from a common book-stack.

Many new activities were born with the occupation of the new building; among these were the separate work with children, and the wider co-operation with the public schools of the City; the Newspaper Department, created by the munificence of William C. Todd, of Atkinson, N. H.; the Lecture Hall and its series of free public lectures; the Department of Statistics and Documents; the Branch Department, conducting the great system of book-exchanges between the Central Library and its Branches, and the delivery of books to the numerous deposit stations in schools and institutions; the Printing Department, and the steady stream of catalogues and catalogue cards which flows from it; and all the lines of work centering in the Special Libraries Department on the upper floor. A few of these — the work with the branches and the fine arts collection — were present in embryo in the Boylston Street building; but their development has been made possible only by means of the facilities offered by the larger structure.

The organization of the staff has gone hand in hand with the growth of these various lines of activity. When the Library moved from the old building, there were only five main departments: Catalogue, Ordering, Shelf, Bates Hall Reference, and Lower Hall Circulation. Under the organizing genius of Herbert Putnam, now Librarian of Congress, who was elected librarian just as the institution entered its new home, the year 1895 saw the creation of the Special Libraries Department and the Printing Department; the year 1896 brought the appointment of a Supervisor of Branches and an Editor of Library Publications; and in 1898 the Department of Documents and Statistics was organized. Other departments were slower in coming into their own; but the special activities of the Children's Room, the Newspaper Room, the Periodical Room, the Patent Room, the Registration Department, the Fine Arts Department, the Music Room, the Map Department, and the special collections of the Barton-Ticknor Library were all developing individuality and finding their place in the system.

The separate work for children began with the occupation of the new building; it grew steadily, presenting ever new problems and possibilities, until in 1906 it became a separate department of the Library. Since that time its activity has extended into the branches, which will each ultimately have its own Children's Librarian. The whole system was co-ordinated in 1917 by the appointment of a general Supervisor of Work with Children. A recent development is the story hour, now held weekly at the Central Library and eleven Branches; this is extension work in a modern sense, by which a new vitality is given to the books of the Library, with the aid of the human voice.

The Newspaper Room, with its 284 newspapers from all the states of the Union and every civilized foreign country, was made possible by the imagination and generosity of William C. Todd, who had traveled widely, and knew what it was to wish for a home paper in a foreign land. In 1893 he announced his intention, carried out in 1897, of giving to the Library the sum of $50,000. for the provision of newspapers from every part of the world. This has been a highly beneficent gift, providing the Library with one of its most popular features; its importance may be gauged by the fact that in the old building only twelve newspapers, aside from those published locally, were received.

From its early days, the Library has been rich in works on the fine arts; but in the Boylston Street building these books were not separated from the general collection, except for a study room in which the folios were used. The splendid Fine Arts Department of the upper floor of the present building was a new creation, destined to a very large usefulness in the training of the multitude of art students who frequent the City of Boston. Features of its work, developed during the years since 1895, are the great collection of photographs, now numbering some 55,000; the Exhibition Rooms, with their constantly changing displays of material from the stores of the department; the series of popular lectures in the Lecture Hall; the collection of lantern slides resulting from these lectures, and now numbering about 8,000; and the great circulation of pictures among the schools of the City, for visual aid in the work of instruction, in which some 2,000 portfolios, containing illustrations of geography and history, are sent out annually.

The Music Department, like the Newspaper Room, owes its existence to the generosity of a single man, the late Allen A. Brown, who in 1894 gave to the Trustees his valuable collection of music as the nucleus of a musical library. A beautiful room in the new building was at once devoted to the subject, and here for more than twenty years Mr. Brown worked with his books, adding to the collection and enriching it with illustrative material until at his death in 1917 it had grown to more than twice the size of his original gift. As a result of this gift the Library has developed a large usefulness in the field of music, and has built up, in addition to Mr. Brown's gift of reference works, a well-rounded collection of music for circulation.

The great building opened in 1895 was not the end of the building operations of the Trustees. In that year, aside from the libraries in Roxbury and Brighton, which had originated as independent institutions, none of the branches of the Library had a building of its own; in 1896 the first real Branch Library was opened in the beautiful and historic old building of the West Church in Cambridge Street, a fine specimen of early American architecture, purchased by the City in 1894. New branches continued to be opened in quarters more or less commodious, but the first building specially designed for library purposes, other than the Fellowes Athenæum in Roxbury and the Holton Library in Brighton, already mentioned, was the Jamaica Plain Branch erected in 1911; this was followed by the North End Branch in North Bennet Street, opened in 1914, the East Boston Branch in 1915, and the Charlestown Branch in 1916. Each of these is excellently suited to its work, and is of dignified and appropriate architecture; the appreciation of the North End Branch by the people in the district which it serves was signalized by the gift of a marble tablet in honor of Dante by an Italian society of the quarter. On the annexation of Hyde Park to Boston in 1912 the library of that town became a branch of the Boston Public Library.

In 1917, the building planned with so much daring thirty years before had been outgrown; even with important structural changes made in 1896, at a cost of $100,000, it could no longer meet the needs of the Library. Temporary relief had been found by the banishment of the Printing and Binding Departments to rented quarters at a distance; tens of thousands of volumes were stored in the cellar, where they were exposed to the danger of dampness, and an occasional flooding from the sewers; bookcases had been placed where they seriously impaired both the architecture and the convenience of the building; the Branch Department could not properly serve its public because of cramped quarters and lack of room for the great deposit collection which is the reservoir from which the branches and schools are supplied. By timely action the Trustees obtained a piece of land in the rear of the building on Blagden Street, and erected upon it an annex to the Central Library, thus giving space for numerous activities which had suffered in one way or another, and relieving many points of strain upon the original building. Now that the Library has begun to burst its shell, further extensions may be looked for as need arises.

Thus far the building has been the central subject of this article; it is now time to speak of personalities. William W. Greenough, whose 22 years of service as President of the Board of Trustees cover a longer term than that of any other man, was a moulding force in the Library's affairs from 1865 to 1888; he presided over its destinies all through the period of its first expansion and had a leading voice in the decisions which led to the erection of the Copley Square building. Samuel A. B. Abbott, who was President of the Board throughout the construction of the new Library building, was the controlling force in the decisions concerning it, and to him, more than to any other man aside from the great architect whom he chose, is due the noble character of the building and the larger life of the Library which it has made possible. He had the courage and tenacity needed for the occasion; and the City has been the richer for his work. Josiah H. Benton was President of the Board from 1908 until his death in 1917; he was a shrewd and able man of affairs, devoted to the Library and earnest in adapting it to the needs of the people as a whole. His term of office saw a great development of the Branch System, with the erection of the four recent Branch buildings and the annex to the Central Library, the latter due directly to his business sagacity. He was not only a great President of the Board of Trustees of the Library; he was its greatest benefactor; at his death he gave to the Library his priceless collection of Prayer Books, with $100,000 for the work with children; he also made the Library the residuary legatee of his estate, amounting to some $2,000,000, after the death of Mrs. Benton, characteristically conditioning this splendid gift upon certain actions on the part of the City Government which will insure an increased income to the Library from City appropriations.

Other important gifts to the Library during the period under review were the splendid collection of autographs bequeathed in 1900 by Judge Mellen Chamberlain, the last notable librarian in the Boylston Street building; the library of President John Adams, rich in personal memories, deposited with the Library in 1893; the Allen A. Brown Dramatic Collection, pendant to the Music Collection, given by the same donor in 1909; the John A. Lewis Library of Americana, received from his widow in 1890; and numerous large gifts of money, of which the most ample are those of $61,766, the bequests of Arthur and Joseph Scholfield in 1883 and 1890, and $100,000, bequeathed in 1903 by Robert Charles Billings for the purchase of books.

Among the benefactions mentioned in the first part of this sketch was that of Mrs. Thomas Pennant Barton, who sold to the Library her husband's matchless Shakespeare collection at a price far below its value. An analogous benefaction is that of the great American painter, John Singer Sargent. When the plans for the new Library building were adopted, it was decided, largely as a result of the wisdom and taste of Mr. Abbott, to include appropriate mural decorations by the greatest artists who could be found, among them Puvis de Chavannes, the acknowledged master of modern mural painting, Edwin Austin Abbey, and John Singer Sargent. The contract with the latter was for $15,000, which provided for the decoration of the two ends of the hall on the Special Libraries Floor. When the first instalment of this work, including the familiar Frieze of the Prophets, was put in place, a group of admirers of Mr. Sargent's painting prevailed upon him to undertake the decoration of the whole hall, for an additional consideration of $15,000. Mr. Sargent has made of the decoration of this room his greatest life work; four sections have been put in place, Mr. Sargent has given eight months in person to the superintendence of the architectural and plastic decoration of the hall, and he is still at work. In the period since he made his first contract, Mr. Sargent has reached a position of unrivalled pre-eminence among the painters of America, if not of the world; it is fair to say that his paintings are one of the greatest and most precious gifts that the Library can ever receive.

The past forty years have seen the issue by the Library of numerous publications of note. The Bulletin, the Library's most characteristic publication, first appeared in 1867 under Mr. Jewett's librarianship, and has been continued ever since, first as a quarterly, then as a monthly, now again as a quarterly. Mr. Winsor, who was a born bibliographer, is responsible for the remarkable annotated lists of Books in History, Biography, etc. (1873), and the Chronological Index of Historical Fiction (1875); these lists were provided with notes which made them unique tools of library research, serving to orient the reader in the literature of a subject in a way never before attempted in a library catalogue. Other important pieces of catalogue making, worthy to be placed beside Mr. Jewett's great Bates Hall Index and its Supplement, were the catalogues of the Ticknor Collection, edited by James Lyman Whitney, afterward Librarian; of the Prince Library, made by William A. Wheeler; of the Barton Library, made by James M. Hubbard, Arthur M. Knapp, and José F. Carret; and of the John Adams Library, the work of Lindsay Swift, but recently completed. The most imposing catalogue yet issued by the Library is that of the Allen A. Brown Music Collection, in four volumes, by Edward B. Hunt and Mary H. Rollins; while in a place by itself is Horace G. Wadlin's "The Public Library of the City of Boston: a History," published in 1911.

Minor landmarks in the period were the invitation given in 1895 to a volunteer committee to assist the Library in the examination of works of fiction submitted for purchase; the removal of the Library's medical books to the Boston Medical Library in 1905; and more recently, the co-operative arrangement with Simmons College, providing the members of the staff with larger opportunities for training in their work.

There has been a steady extension of the service offered by the Library, marked by incidents such as the lowering of the age limit for card-holders; the opening of both Central Library and Branches in the evening and on Sunday; the issue of special cards to teachers; the introduction of the summer-reading privilege, by which one may keep a book for three months in the vacation season; the opening of the card catalogue to the public in catalogue cases of a new type; and the great and progressive increase in the number of volumes freely accessible to the public on open shelves. Of special significance, in view of the widened responsibility placed upon the Library by the gift of land from the Commonwealth, is the development of the system of inter-library loans, by which the Library lends annually some 1,500 volumes to libraries outside the City; and the great and ever-increasing free use of the Library for reference by scholars and visitors from all parts of the country.

In the fall of 1917, soon after the United States declared war upon Germany, the Library entered upon a third and still wider phase of its history. When the Commonwealth Pier was opened as a receiving ship for the Navy, a deposit station was promptly established there, under the supervision of a member of the staff. As the leading library of New England, the Boston Public Library was properly made headquarters for the receipt and preparation of books and magazines given for the use of men in the national service. There were shipped from the Library for this purpose 173,000 volumes and 235 cases of magazines, the latter weighing about 41 tons; these were made ready by some 175 volunteer workers. In this service for the nation, the Librarian acted as New England Division Director of the American Library Association, and State Director of all library war work carried on in Massachusetts. During the war a member of the staff, lent by the Library to the Government, served as Chief of the Library Section of the National Food Administration; her activities have led to a new co-operation between the national government and the libraries of the country. The Boston Public Library is the first to reap the full benefits of this new relation, in the Library Information Service just established, by which this institution, alone among the libraries of America, receives all Government publications as they issue from the press, by daily mail from Washington. The Library thus becomes once more a pioneer in broadening the scope of library activity.

In closing, it may be worth while to make a few comparisons. In 1880, when the Trustees took the first step toward the provision of a more adequate building, the Library possessed 377,225 volumes; it now has 1,197,498. Its invested funds amounted to $116,000, as compared with $670,707 at present. Its annual circulation of books for home use was 1,156,721, which has now increased to 2,300,732. In 1880, the City appropriation for Library purposes was $115,000; in 1919 it was $546,594. The branch system in 1880 consisted of eight branches, five of them very inadequately housed; there was also a "Delivery" in West Roxbury. To-day the Library has sixteen branches and fourteen reading-rooms, of which ten have their own buildings, and four are well accommodated in specially planned quarters in municipal buildings. In 1880, there was no Children's Room, no Newspaper Room, no Music Room, no Lecture Hall; the Library had no collection of photographs, and there was no direct service to the schools or other institutions of the City. In the year 1918-1919, the Library supplied deposits of books to 185 public and parochial schools, 59 engine houses and 32 other institutions; the total number of volumes thus deposited during the year was 101,244.

Enough has been said to show that the Library has never stopped in its progress toward a larger, more varied and more effective usefulness to the people. With the passage of time, its point of view and the character of its work have slowly changed, always in the direction of a broader conception of service to the community. In its early days the Library stood waiting for the people to seek its treasures; to-day it actively seeks the people, and undertakes in a dozen ways to do constructive educational work. Who can foretell the possible future expansion of this ever-young institution, which will complete its three-score years and ten in 1922?

PETITION FOR A BRIDGE BETWEEN BOSTON AND CHARLESTOWN, 1720.

From the time of the settlement of Boston ferries crossed the Charles River at Charlestown, Cambridge and Watertown, and in 1641 a foot bridge crossed at Watertown at the head of tidewater. In 1648 the first "horse bridge" was built near the Mill at Watertown; fourteen years later (1663) a larger bridge was constructed at the foot of Brighton Street, Cambridge. These bridges were the only means of travel by land, between the towns north of Boston, and that town. The people of Winnisimmet (Chelsea) drove through Washington Avenue to County Road, then by Ferry Street, Everett, to Malden Square. Pleasant Street took them to Medford Square and then across to Cambridge, through Brookline and Roxbury, over Boston Neck. In 1712 John Clark and Capt Thomas Hutchinson of Boston, Stephen Willis of Medford and Capt. Michael Gill of Charlestown proposed that the Province erect a bridge at Charlestown. The only reference to the project is found in the Council records of the General Court in 1712. "Upon reading a Representation — Proposals by John Clark, Esq. & Company referring to a Bridge over Charles River, The Council declare they are ready to promote the Obtainment of so beneficial a Work as the Bridge projected. And judge the best Method to bring it to pass is for private Gentlemen to undertake & Carry on the same & for their Encouragment that a Toll be forthwith granted & sett by Act of the General Assembly such as shall be judged reasonable to be paid for Man, Horse, & other Beasts, Carts, Carriages & Coaches; Saving to the College their Interest & Revenue of the Ferry there to be duly paid from Time to Time with the Advance of Forty Shillings per Annum thereto for the Term of Fifteen Years next after Erecting the said Bridge, without any Advance or Increase after the End of the first Fifteen years. Also that in case the Projection be attempted & fail the River & Harbour to be put in good Condition as at present. And that the Honourable Lieutenant Governor, the Secretary, Eliakim Hutchinson & Andrew Belcher Esq. with such Gentlemen as shall be named by the House of Representatives be a Committee to sit forthwith to receive Propositions & Projections for the Building from any that are willing to undertake it, and to make their Report thereof to the next Session of the Court."

The scheme did not materialize and the project was again revived in 1720 by the petition now printed, regarding which there is nothing in the State archives; the only mention is found in the printed journal of the General Court, 21 Nov. 1720: "Upon a Motion being made. The Question was Put. Whether it should be Referr'd to the Committee Appointed to Consider the State of the Province in respect of a Medium of Trade, to Consider a Proposal that a Bridge be built over Charles River from Boston to Charlestown at the Ferry place?

It Pass'd in the Negative."

Boston was not against the project, for on 20 Apr. 1720 it was voted in town meeting "That it be given as an Instruction to the Representatives of the Town now chosen to promote the building a Bridge over Charles River at the place where the Ferry hath been usually kept, vizt between Mr. Gee & Hudson's Point, and at no other place."

The 1720 petition is signed by one hundred Woburn men, young and old, and as stated the scheme was for the benefit of the towns north and west of Boston. For many years Woburn, Reading, Malden and Charlestown, jointly with Medford, had been liable for repairs of the bridge over the Mystic at Medford. These towns with others would have been liable for a new bridge.

In 1739 John Staniford, who had recently developed the Lynde pasture at the west part of the town, petitioned for a bridge to Cambridge (Lechmere Point) or Charlestown. He was encouraged to engage with others in the scheme as a private enterprise.

It was not accomplished, however, until 1786 when the Charles River Bridge was completed to Charlestown.

WALTER K. WATKINS.

TEXT OF THE PETITION.

To his Excellency Samuel Shute Esq^r The Hon^{ble} the Council and the Hon^{ble} the house of Representatives in Generall Court Conven'd. this Twenty fifth day of May 1720.

The Petition of us the Subscribers Humbly sheweth that Wher As the Erecting a firm and Substantiall Bridge pafsable for Cattle and for Carts ouer Charles River at the place where the ferry is now kept, would not only be of confiderable Benefit to the towns of Boston and Charlestown (which it would Joyn upon) but of great advantage to the whole province: and more Especialy to thofe parts which ly Northward and Westward from thence, giuing them conveniency of bringing what they raife to a market more easily then now they can, Affording to Trauillers, and Especialy to the members of this Hon^{ble} Afsembly; and to the posts and Exprefses Sent p the Gouverment A quick and free pafsage at all feafons, even when by reason of Stormy Weather and by Jce the Riuers are Jmpafsable, and would in time of war, and in Cafe of Jnvation from a Foreigne enemy, be a great Strengthening to the whole province as it would facilitate the pafsage of Succours from all parts in to Boston; or to the Castle or to fuch places wher they fhould be most needed; and would be a good means of promoting and quicking trade and Commerce which is greatly Languifhing and of Affording some releife to the Jnhabitants of this province under our prefent Difficulties ———

Wher fore your Petitioners Humbly pray that your Excellency and Hon^{rs} would take the premifes into your Just and Serious Confideration and Direct the building of abridge as aboue mentioned in fuch manner and on fuch

Terms as to your Great Wisdom Shall Seem meet for promoting the publick good and in Compliance with the Request of Multitudes who are so hertily desirous of it and therby not only performe an Eminent Service to your Contry; butt render the names and Memory of the present Government Honarable and famous to all Posterity And you[r] Humble Petitioners as in duty bound fhall ever pray &c.

May 25, 1720

LETTER ON CHURCH ATTENDANCE, 1639.

This letter, the original of which is among the Cotton Papers in possession of this Library, is probably addressed to the Rev. John Cotton of Boston by the first ruling elder, William Brewster, and the second regularly ordained pastor, John Reyner, of the Plymouth Colony. A copy of it (with facsimiles only of the signatures of Brewster and Reyner) was printed in the edition of Bradford's History of Plymouth Plantation, published by the Massachusetts Historical Society in 1912 (text in vol. II, pp. 275ⁿ, 276ⁿ; facsimile signatures in vol. II, p. 237). The Pilgrim Tercentenary, now so near at hand, lends peculiar interest to any event in our early history, and this document is here reproduced on that account.

When the Rev. John Robinson died on March 4, 1625, in Leyden, at the age of forty-nine, the hope that he might be the minister of Plymouth, New England, came to a natural end. William Brewster, called Elder Brewster (1566-1643), was chosen "to labor in the word and doctrine," until Ralph Smith, finding that there was no "need of his labors" in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, was appointed the first regular minister at Plymouth. Elder Brewster could not administer the Sacraments, but otherwise he discharged the pastoral functions. According to William Hubbard he was "of a finer alloy than the ordinary sort of the Separation." Smith, who was educated at Christ College, Cambridge, and came over with Francis Higginson in the Talbot to the Massachusetts Colony, began his ministry in 1629. Somewhat later he was assisted for several years by Roger Williams. Brewster and Smith were the only men up to 1630 in the Plymouth plantation who had received a university education. Henry M. Dexter points out that "Prior to 1650 Harvard College neither received from Plymouth nor contributed to that place more than one or two persons." Intellectually the new home of the Pilgrims was barren, but in a vital faith and abounding courage it was strong indeed.

In 1636 Smith laid down his charge and was succeeded by John Reyner whom William Bradford calls "an able and godly man, and of a meeke and humble spirite, sound in the truth, and every way unreprouable in his life and conversation." Reyner was a graduate of Emmanuel College, Cambridge (John Harvard's College), came to New England in 1635, and accepted the call at New Plymouth which he filled until November, 1654. The next year he became the pastor at Dover, Mass., where he died on April 20, 1669. For several years Charles Chauncy, who later became President of Harvard College, was associated with Reyner at Plymouth.

So far as one can interpret the incoherent phrasing of this epistle, so characteristic of its era — the era, however, of Shakespeare, Milton, and Dryden — the writers of it were disturbed over the remoteness of certain farms from churches and the difficulty of enforcing the strict requirements in regard to church attendance upon those who lived on these farms. Even later in our early history it was a serious matter to be absent from church, and fines running up to seven pounds are recorded. General James Cudworth of Scituate writes about 1660 that the "New Plymouth saddle is on the Bay horse;" that religious affairs so take up the attention of the Massachusetts government that little time is left for civil business; and that at the last session of the General Court from sixty to eighty persons were indicted for failure to attend divine worship! It would appear from this that all the severities of daily life were not practised exclusively by the Puritans.

TEXT OF THE LETTER.

Reuend and welbeloued in o^r co^mon Sauio^r: The Lord haueing called you wth vs in the fellowshipp of the Gospell to mutuall helpfullnes in the Lord as occasion is ministred we craue yo^r serious thoughts and resolu^{co}ns in some questions on foote among us concerneing the holding of farmes of w^{ch} there is noe lesse frequent vse wth yo^r felues then wth vs. The pticulers we desire to co^mend to yo^r serious confideracon are these.

1 Whether in those parts especially in some places, and where people haue continued for some space of tyme it bee not needfull for the comfortable and welbeing euen of the churches that places for husbandry be made use of; though distant from the place of a mans habita^{co}n and of the churches assembling three or foure miles or there abouts.

2 Seing by meanes of such farmes a man's famylie is diuided so that in busie tymes they cannot (except vpon the Lords day) all of them joyne wth him in famylie duties whether to make use of them because of the forenamed needfulness be not to doe euell that good may come of yt?

3 Whether a master in the absence of some part of his famylie by occasion of his farm may not lawfully appoynt a sonne or seruant whoe is in some measure fitted to performe duties among them in his absence? or whether such a one be not as a substitute to a church officer in his non-residency?

4 Whether a man not hauing wherewth to mayntaine his stocke estate & place the Lord hath called him in, neare hand, may vndertake & retaine such a farme abroad as aboue said, when for the p^rsent hee wants & cannot procure such a seruant in his famylie as may be helpfull there, wth the rest of his servants by prayer and instrucon?

It is p^rsupposed & p^rvided in all these cases that such servants or others as on the weeke day are employed abroad at farmes doe resort duly before the Lords day to the families they belong too, & continue there till the second Day, except some one whoe is necessarily detayned there, though not usually from the publike assemblies.

Some of us after agita^{co}n of these things remayneing darke & doubtfull in

Friends and wellbelov'd in common Bands: The Lord having called you wth us in the fellowship of the Gospell to mutuall helpfullnes in the Lord w^{ch} occasion is ministred wth words y^e serious thoughts and resolutions in some questions on facts among us concerning the holding of farms & w^{ch} there is no less frequent w^{ch} wth you shoud then wth us. The particulars we desire to remend to y^e serious consideration are these:

1 Whether in these parts especially in some places and where people have continued for some space of time it bee not needfull for the comfortable and working out of the requir'd that places for husbands be made use of, though distant from the place of a man's habitation and of the requir'd assembling five or six miles or thereabouts:

2 Being by means of such farms a man's familie is divided so that in busie times they cannot (except upon the Lord's day) all of them joyne wth him in familie duties, w^{ch} ther to make use of those benefits of the forenamed needfullnes be not so good that God may vnto of y^e:

3 Whether a master in the absence of some part of his familie by occasion of his farms may not lawfully appoint a sound & serious who is in some measure fitted to performe duties among them in his absence, or whether such a one be not as a substitute to a church member in his non-residence:

4 Whether a man not having wherewith to maintaine his stocke & place the Lord hath called him in, neare hand, may undertake & retaine such a farme abroad as above said, when for the present hee want, & cannot procure such a servant in his familie as may be helpfull to him, w^{ch} the rest of his servants by prayer & instruction. It is supposed & provided in all these cases that such servants or others as on the Lords day are employed abroad at farms doe report duly before the Lords day to the families they belong to, & continue there till the second day, except some one who is necessarily detained there, though not usually from the public assemblies.

Some of us after perusing of these things remaining dark & doubtful in them, if you shall by imparting to us what light you have received concerning them from the true light be means of guiding our feet in the wayes of truth & peace we shoud have occasion hereby ministred of returning thanks to the father of lights in y^e behalfe. Now the Lord himself guide us wth you understanding in all things through I'm who is the way, the truth & the life. Farewell

RUINS OF THE WINTHROP HOUSE.

The Winthrop House stood on the north corner of Boylston and Tremont Streets, and its destruction by fire took place on April 5, 1864. The house was first opened as a hotel in November, 1850, by Col. Silsby. The Masonic fraternity bought the property in 1859, Col. Silsby vacating it in the Spring of that year. The Masons, after making necessary alterations, dedicated the building to their use on Dec. 27, 1859. They had leased the three lower floors to Col. Silsby in November, retaining the three upper floors for themselves. A new Masonic Temple was erected on the same site, and dedicated on June 24, 1867, only to be burned and replaced by the present structure. This corner is still occupied by the Masonic fraternity.

THE GOVERNMENT INFORMATION SERVICE OF THE BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

From the beginning of its history the Boston Public Library has been slowly building up a great collection of what are known as Public Documents — the publications of the various governments of the world, national, state, and municipal. The foundation of this collection actually antedates the birth of the Library, for in 1849 and 1850 the City received from Robert C. Winthrop and Edward Everett more than one thousand public documents which formed the most important element in the Public Library at its opening in 1852.

This collection, now placed in the Statistical Department and the stacks near it, at present numbers more than thirty thousand bound volumes containing more than four times that number of individual documents. It includes an unbroken set of the "Blue Books" of the British Parliament, beginning with 1810, and thousands of the publications issued by other governments, large and small, in every part of the world.

But the most important part of the collection consists of the publications of the United States Federal Government, almost complete from the beginning, and forming one of the treasures of the Library. This collection is continually referred to by students in many widely varying fields, but it makes little popular appeal, and, except to the special student who knows the nature of the material which it supplies, it is rather forbidding on account of a certain unattractive and impersonal character seemingly inherent in official publications.

As an indirect result of the European War, both the public libraries and the national Government awoke to a new sense of the part which the publications of the Government might, and should, play in the life of the people. The Boston Public Library thereupon set about a study of the vast publishing business known as the Government Printing Office, with a view to bringing the people of Boston and the United States Government closer together, through a more effective use of the publications which issue from the presses at Washington in a steady stream for the use of the people.

In the process of this study, a number of points became clear: first, that the publications of the Government cover a far wider field, and touch the life of the people at many more points, than is generally realized; second, that a large proportion of this valuable material, issued at the public expense and intended as an aid to the national life, never reaches those who need it most, through ineffective and often wasteful methods of distribution; third, that a great deal of this material is stale before it is made available for use, owing to the fact that it is sent out to libraries only once a month; fourth, that the public is largely ignorant of the importance and live interest of these publications from the lack of any proper means of advertising them.

As an immediate result of this study, a bill, drafted a year ago at the meeting of the American Library Association, was introduced into both houses of Congress under the title of "A Bill to Establish a Library Information Service in the Bureau of Education." It is the purpose of this bill, which is still pending, to establish a clearing-house for public documents in the Bureau of Education at Washington, through which every library in the country may be kept informed regarding current Government publications, and may be assisted in getting promptly for the benefit of their constituents the latest information at the disposal of the Government. It is a comprehensive scheme of education, aimed at giving the widest and most effective use for the purposes of national life, to the stores of information amassed and published by the Nation, and it will provide a vital force for Americanization by making the people better acquainted with their government and what it is doing, and by bringing home to thousands of citizens in all parts of the land the fact that the Government is ready to help them individually in the conduct of their business and their studies.

In October, 1919, pending the adoption of this important piece of educational legislation, the Boston Public Library opened a Government Information Office as an experiment station for proving the feasibility and practical usefulness of the plan outlined in the bill. Lacking the proposed clearing-house in Washington, the Library was obliged to establish its own relations with more than a hundred government bureaus, and to enlist their co-operation in this new service to the public. As a result of this co-operation, the Government Information Office of the Boston Public Library has now the first approach to a collection of the current publications of the Government, complete up to date; and the Boston Public Library is the first library in the country to receive government publications daily as they are issued, rather than monthly as they accumulate. "Government information while it is still current" is the ideal of the new service; and in Boston that ideal is being realized to a far greater extent than ever before or anywhere else.

The Office, which is situated on the street floor of the Library, near the Newspaper and Periodical Rooms, contains the latest issues of every periodical publication of the Government — some 65 in all — as far as it is possible to obtain them. It also has complete lists of the publications of every department and bureau; and all — or practically all — the publications of the Government which can in any way be called current, including some which the Library has never received in the past. This material is received daily, while it is fresh, and is arranged according to a simple classification which makes it very easy to consult. As each document is superseded it is sent to the shelves where it becomes a part of the Library's great collection of Government publications, under the charge of the Statistical Department.

The work of the Service has included the periodical issue of a bulletin called "News Notes on Government Publications," for the use of the Library staff; this bulletin, of which six numbers have been published to date, aims to interest the staff in the publications of the Government, and to furnish information regarding the works received during the preceding month. It is an attempt to provide an effective form of advertisement for United States documents.

The convenient location of the Office renders it very accessible, and all sorts of people with all sorts of questions resort to it. It is astonishing how many of these questions can be answered from the documents on file. Not merely queries about the doings of the Government or the conduct of American public life, but the widest range of economic, scientific, domestic, agricultural, and industrial questions, are speedily disposed of with the aid of books and pamphlets issued by the Government. Much has been said of the possibilities of education to the man of one book — Shakespeare, the Bible, or Pilgrim's Progress. Until one has lived for some months with the publications of the Government, reading nothing else, but examining them carefully as they arrive from Washington day by day, one can have no conception of the range which they cover, or of the effectiveness of their method of presentation. The Government Printing Office is in fact the greatest publishing house in the land, as regards the mass of its business, the variety of its wares, the practical value of the information which it disseminates, and the benevolence of its purposes. The Government Information Service of the Boston Public Library is making a beginning toward giving this beneficence a new efficiency, and is bringing home the Government as a great teacher to one community, as an object lesson in what may some day be realized in every community in the country, if the national service proposed by the bill now before Congress is established by law.

HOTEL PELHAM BEFORE ITS MOVING IN 1869.

This view of the Hotel Pelham is from the north-east corner of Tremont and Boylston Streets before the widening of Tremont Street in 1869 and the raising and moving at that time of the Hotel Pelham. At the extreme right is seen the top of the old Public Library building on Boylston Street, and in the extreme left end opposite the Tremont Street side of the Pelham is a part of the residence of President John Quincy Adams and birthplace of Charles Francis Adams, the Elder. The Little Building now occupies the site of the Pelham.

A Selected List of Books Recently Added to the Library.

For latest available titles see the current Weekly Lists.

The arrangement is that of a dictionary catalogue, entry being made by author, subject, and title. The printing of a name, usually of an author, in SMALL CAPITALS, indicates that under that name in the main alphabet will be found a fuller entry.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY AND ONE OF ITS AUXILIARIES.

How far one large institution may take upon itself the work peculiar to other institutions is still a debatable matter. Public libraries, for instance, have not reached definite conclusions as to just what relations they may hold with the public schools, without impairing their own mechanism. However this may be, nothing stands in the way of a mutual helpfulness between institutions which does not interfere with the limited functions of each of them. This is well illustrated by the experience of this Library during the past two decades in an effort to promote the interests of public educational work, by giving, in its own publications, gratuitous information regarding what is generally known as "extension work," offered each season in this community.

This undertaking, now comprising an important feature in the fall and winter issues of the Library Bulletin, began simply enough by an announcement of the forthcoming Lowell Institute Lecture in the Bulletin for October, 1898. In the issue for November, 1900, at the suggestion of Professor William T. Sedgwick of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Curator of the Lowell Institute, there began to be added short bibliographical lists illustrative of these lectures, prepared in all instances by the Lowell lecturers themselves. The first list was prepared by the Rev. Dr. George A. Gordon in connection with his course on "The New Epoch for Faith." With occasional lapses these timely lists have since appeared, and have been serviceable to those who attend the Lowell Lectures.

The next few years saw the insertion, beginning with November, 1901, of the Programmes of Exhibitions given each year at the Central Library and Branches; in February, 1904, of a Free Course at the Library illustrating the general field of architecture under the auspices of the Boston Architectural Club; and in December of that year a list of books and magazine articles on American Engraving, Etching and Lithography, published on the occasion of an exhibition of early American engravings at the Museum of Fine Arts.

At the suggestion of President, then Professor, A. Lawrence Lowell, the first announcement was given, in the Bulletin for October, 1907, of the Collegiate Courses under the auspices of Harvard University, grouped under the Lowell Institute Courses. In the following year, 1908, appeared the prospectus of the Collegiate Course for 1908-1909 offered by the Museum of Fine Arts.

The first separate announcement of the University Extension Courses — a development of the Collegiate Courses — appeared in the Bulletin for June 30, 1910. To the original prospectus were added: the Boston College Evening Course, in September, 1912; the Boston University and Simmons College Extension Courses, in September, 1913; the Franklin Union Course, in September, 1914; the Young Men's Catholic Association Course, which took the place of the Boston College Course, in September, 1915; and in September, 1916, the courses offered by Northeastern College and by the Department of University Extension of the Massachusetts Board of Education.

All these courses were grouped and arranged in the Bulletin for September, 1919, under the heading Public Educational Courses, and the courses given in the Trade School for Girls and in the Trade Union College were added. The prospectus of the Lowell Institute Free Evening School for Industrial Foremen was at this time transferred from the Lowell Institute Course to this heading.

These courses are always announced in the issue of the Quarterly Bulletin for September 30 of each year, and, in part, in the issue for December 31. They are also issued in a separate pamphlet which may be had on application. Thus, in a normal and healthy development from a small beginning this, one of many of the Library's activities, has grown to be a feature of considerable importance in educational schemes of this community. Other institutions have been helped to advertise their particular advantages, while this institution has not been called upon to sacrifice any of its own activities or interests through an invasion of any field not strictly its own.

TREMONT STREET, LOOKING NORTH FROM ELIOT STREET.

HARVARD COLLEGE IN NEED OF HELP, 1672.

Up to the year 1673 the General Court of Massachusetts paid annually to Harvard College the sum of £100, and after that time, until the end of the first seventy years of the college's history, the sum of £150. These yearly sums were, with the receipts from the Charlestown Ferry, the sole resources for the support of the President and other officers. In 1636 the General Court granted £400 "towards a School or College," but there is no definite evidence that this amount was ever paid. President Quincy in his "History" (I, 43) says: "there was not probably one year in the whole seventy, in which, by moneys collected from friends of the institution in foreign countries, by donations of its friends in this country, by moneys brought by students coming from other colonies for education here, and, above all, by furnishing the means of education at home, and thus preventing the outgoing of domestic wealth for education abroad, the College did not remunerate the Colony for that poor annual stipend five hundred fold."

What follows relates to one of the attempts by subscriptions throughout the "country," for so the Colony was at first called, to relieve the constant necessities of Harvard College.

the Church.

* John Alden was the immigrant who died September 12, 1686; Josiah Standish was the son of Miles Standish; Ichabod Wiswall, who was born in England in 1638, was three years at Harvard College but did not graduate. He died on July 23, 1700. The "Mr holmes" mentioned in the text was Rev. John Holmes who died December 24, 1675.

Honored and Beloved in our Lord Jesus Christ Brethren you cannot be ignorant how good by his wife's guidance was pleased to remove from us by death our Reverend Father Mr Holmes for some years past - (our humbling guidance to us) but the Lord of the Harvest hath since been pleased to smile upon us in our low estate (for we have cause to say his mercy in such measure) having but amongst us another of his servants to be kept up to us in the west of the ministry who is not his late partner and moulded not only to be willing to follow him but also to take of us upon him the as therefore to cross your Christian affection by ending your debt & may interest to converse with us in our week the 24th day of this instant (being the 4th day of the week) notwithstanding the day appointed by the Church to observe the second of our part of our Church this not doubting of your Christian care & Reverend Mr Curdall with our Request we take our leave of subscribers our duty your loving Brethren in Christ Jesus the Church of Christ at Sudbourn

Exhibitions by the Fine Arts Department.

1920 - 1921

Central Library.

The Exhibitions are arranged to illustrate the Lectures given at the Library.

The Pilgrim Tercentenary Exhibition will remain open in the Exhibition Room of the Fine Arts Department during the season of 1920-1921.

This exhibition is believed to be the most significant of any in the country, in the number, importance, and variety of books relating to the history of Congregationalism, including the Separatist controversy and the Pilgrim and Puritan movements. With very few exceptions it contains all the important original sources in early New England history, and includes original early New England maps. The illustrations of the Pilgrim country in England and Holland were made specially for this exhibition from contemporary prints; the collection of photographs shown of the Pilgrims in Art is believed to be complete.

In addition to the above the following exhibitions will be arranged in connection with the lectures:—

Nov. 1.	Pageants.	Jan. 10.	The Northwest.
Nov. 8.	Mountain Scenery.	Jan. 17.	Mexico.
Dec. 20.	Giotto's Frescoes at Assisi and Padua.	Jan. 24.	Puvis de Chavannes.

The Lowell Institute.

The TRUSTEE of the Lowell Institute under the will of John Lowell, Jr., maintains annually in the City of Boston various Courses of Public Lectures. For the present — the eighty-second — season five distinct Series are provided, as follows:—

FREE PUBLIC LECTURES IN HUNTINGTON HALL, in the Rogers Building,
491 Boylston Street.

FREE EVENING SCHOOL FOR INDUSTRIAL FOREMEN.

COLLEGIATE COURSES.

TEACHERS' SCHOOL OF SCIENCE.

FREE LECTURES IN KING'S CHAPEL ON CURRENT TOPICS IN THEOLOGY.

Further information in regard to each of the several Series is given below.

A. LAWRENCE LOWELL, Trustee.

W. T. SEDGWICK, Curator.

Free Public Lectures in Huntington Hall.

LOWELL INSTITUTE LECTURES open to the public will be given this year, as in recent years, in Huntington Hall, Rogers Building, 491 Boylston Street, Boston. The several Courses will be announced in advance, with full particulars, in the advertising columns of the Boston Evening Transcript and as far as possible in the Quarterly Bulletin of the Boston Public Library. They are briefly described on the next page.

Admission to the Huntington Hall Courses is Free, but only by Ticket (except as stated in paragraph 7 beyond), the number of tickets being limited by the capacity of the Hall.

Tickets are distributed to the public under the following rules:—

1. Admission tickets to the First Lecture of each Course will be mailed, one to each applicant, in the order of application, and until the supply is exhausted, to all persons whose letters of application are received at least two days before the beginning of any Course by the CURATOR OF THE LOWELL INSTITUTE, 491 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, and are accompanied by stamped, addressed envelopes. (See paragraphs 3 and 4 beyond.)

In such envelopes, when duly stamped and addressed, tickets will be mailed as soon as they are ready for distribution, and if the supply is not already exhausted. If, however, as often happens, the desired tickets are not ready for distribution, the envelopes received will be kept on file in the order of application; and, as a rule, tickets for any Course will be mailed to applicants a few days only before the actual beginning of that Course.

A separate envelope must be sent for EACH TICKET desired.

When tickets are in great demand, only one TICKET will be mailed to any one applicant or in any one stamped, addressed envelope.

Persons desiring to secure tickets for more than one Course must send A SEPARATE, STAMPED, ADDRESSED ENVELOPE FOR EACH TICKET, FOR EACH COURSE.

On and after the day on which a Course begins, any tickets left over for that Course may be obtained at the Office of the Lowell Institute, 491 Boylston Street, BETWEEN THE HOURS OF TEN A.M. AND FOUR P.M. (except Saturdays); or by sending to the Curator (with a specific request for such left-over tickets) a stamped, addressed envelope; but, inasmuch as it is intended to distribute tickets chiefly by mail, no tickets will be given out at the Office of the Lowell Institute for any Course before the day on which that Course begins.

Persons attending the First Lecture of any Course may, just before entering the Hall, EXCHANGE their Admission tickets to the First Lecture for TICKETS GOOD FOR RESERVED SEATS FOR THE ENTIRE COURSE.

In order to give all applicants equal opportunity, all reserved seat tickets are placed beforehand in envelopes, some containing one ticket good for one reserved seat, some containing two or more tickets good for adjoining reserved seats. These envelopes are then shuffled, and at the First Lecture of any Course all who desire to do so may, as just stated (see paragraph 4), EXCHANGE their First-lecture Admission tickets at tables in the vestibule, for envelopes, drawn by lot, containing COURSE tickets good for RESERVED SEATS.

Two or more persons wishing to sit together may, by surrendering together their First-lecture Admission tickets (see paragraph 4), exchange these, before entering the Hall, for envelopes containing COURSE tickets for ADJOINING RESERVED SEATS.

PERSONS WITHOUT TICKETS OF ANY KIND may usually obtain admission to the Hall (and almost always good seats) for any lecture by standing in line in the vestibule at the foot of the stairs. Such persons need not arrive until a few minutes before the lecture begins.

At all lectures in Huntington Hall the DOORS ARE CLOSED WHEN THE LECTURE BEGINS AND NO ONE IS AFTERWARD ALLOWED TO ENTER.

Ticket holders are requested to return promptly to the Curator or to the Office, for the benefit of others, tickets which they find they cannot use.

A History of the Lowell Institute, by Harriette Knight Smith, giving a complete list of the lectures in previous years, the subjects of their lectures, etc., was published in 1898, but is now out of print.

THE FIRST COURSE will be eight lectures by GEORGE PIERCE BAKER, Professor in Harvard University, on The Pilgrims: Their Leaders and their Ideas. On Mondays and Thursdays at eight o'clock in the evening, beginning Monday, October 25.

THE SECOND COURSE will be four lectures on Our Animal Allies in the World War, by ERNEST HAROLD BAYNES, Special Correspondent of Harper's Magazine. 1. ANIMALS IN OTHER WARS AND IN THIS. 2. DOGS AND PIGEONS. 3. CAMELS, OXEN AND DONKEYS. 4. HORSES AND MULES. On Tuesdays and Fridays at eight o'clock in the evening, beginning Tuesday, October 26.

THE THIRD COURSE will be six lectures by J. FRANKLIN JAMESON, Director, Department of Historical Research, Carnegie Institution, Washington, D.C., on The American Revolution as a Social Movement. 1. THE PARTIES AND THE PARTICIPANTS. 2. THE REVOLUTION AND THE HAND. 3. THE REVOLU-TION AND RELIGION. 4. THE REVOLUTION AND SLAVERY. 5. THE REVOLUTION AND BUSINESS. 6. THE REVOLUTION AND THE WEST. On Tuesdays and Fridays at eight o'clock in the evening, beginning Tuesday, November 9.

THE FOURTH COURSE will be six lectures by RAYMOND PEARL, LL.D., Director, Department of Biometry and Vital Statistics, School of Hygiene and Public Health, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, on The Biology of Death. 1. SENESCENCE AND DEATH. 2. THE CHANCES OF DEATH. 3. THE CAUSES OF DEATH. 4. CORRELATION OF DEATH RATES. 5. INHERITANCE OF LIFE DURATION. 6. THE TREND OF MORTALITY AND SOME OF ITS CONSEQUENCES. On Wednesdays and Saturdays at eight o'clock in the evening, beginning Wednesday, December 1.

THE FIFTH COURSE will be eight lectures by HERBERT EUGENE BOLTON, Professor of American History and Director of the Bancroft Library, in the University of California, on The Expansion of the Spanish Empire in America. On Mondays and Thursdays at eight o'clock in the evening, beginning Monday, December 13, and omitting Monday, January 3, and Thursday, January 6.

Other Courses will be announced in the January Bulletin.

Free Evening School for Industrial Foremen.

Under the Auspices of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Trustee of the Lowell Institute has established, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a Free Evening School for Industrial Foremen, comprising at present three Courses, a Mechanical, an Electrical, and a Buildings Course, each extending over two years. For a list of these courses and further information see page 296 of this Bulletin, under Public Educational Courses.

Collegiate Courses.

These have now become a part of the University Extension Courses, provided by an Association of Colleges in and about Boston, and as such they count towards the A.A. degree. In accordance with a provision in the will of John Lowell, Jr., there will be charged for each Collegiate Course a fee of $5 or less. For a list of these Courses see page 293 of this Bulletin.

Teachers' School of Science.

Courses in this school are now included in the Extension Courses given by a combination of all the colleges in and about Boston; and as such they count as one-quarter courses or one-third courses for the A.A. degree at Harvard University, Tufts College, Radcliffe College, and Wellesley College. In accordance with a provision in the will of John Lowell, Jr., there will be a charge for each of these courses of $5 or less. For a list of these Courses see page 294 of this Bulletin under the subheading Saturday Courses.

Free Public Lectures in King's Chapel on Current Topics in Theology.

Under the Auspices of the Harvard Divinity School, the Andover Theological Seminary, and the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge.

LECTURES ON CURRENT TOPICS IN THEOLOGY will be given, as in recent years, in King's Chapel, Tremont Street, Boston. Admission is FREE and no tickets are required. Detailed announcements will be made in the January Bulletin.

Public Educational Courses.

1920 - 1921

During the year 1920-1921 classes in Conversational Spanish, Conversational French, American Citizenship (Civics for Women), and Beginner's Oral English, will be organized by the Division to meet in the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library.

SCHEDULE OF CLASSES.

Subject.	Date of Meeting.	Enrollment Charge.
Conversational Spanish	Monday, Sept. 20, 1920	$1.00
Conversational French	Tuesday, Sept. 21, 1920	1.00
American Citizenship	Wednesday, Oct. 13, 1920	1.00
Oral English—Public Speaking	Wednesday, Jan. 5, 1921	1.00

As far as possible these classes will meet once a week at the time announced. Instruction is FREE, only a small charge being made in each course to cover the cost of travelling expenses, lesson material, textbooks (in certain courses), and other incidentals.

Persons who desire to enroll in any of these courses should apply at once, in person or by letter, to the DIVISION OF UNIVERSITY EXTENSION, Room 217, State House, Boston 9, Mass.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES TO BE GIVEN AT THE BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Conversational Spanish. First meeting, Monday, September 20, 1920, at 7.30 p.m., in Lecture Hall of Boston Public Library. Twenty lessons.

This is an elementary course in the practical use of Spanish. Only such words will be employed in the vocabulary as are used ordinarily in social and commercial life in Spanish speaking countries, especially those in South America. Enrollment is open to those who have no knowledge of the language. Class period one hour. Enrollment charge, $1; textbook extra.

Conversational French. First meeting, Tuesday, September 21, 1920, at 7.30 p.m., in Lecture Hall of Boston Public Library. Twenty lessons.

This is an elementary course in the practical use of the French language. The direct method of instruction is used. It is desirable, but not necessary, that persons enrolling have some knowledge of French grammar. Class period, one hour. Enrollment charge, $1; textbook extra.

American Citizenship. (Civics for Women.) First meeting, Wednesday, October 13, 1920, at 7.30 p.m., in Lecture Hall of Boston Public Library. Ten lessons.

This is a course which has been prepared with special reference to the needs of women for correct information regarding the conduct of governmental affairs and the duties of the different officers and departments of government. Enrollment charge, $1.

Beginner's Oral English—Public Speaking. First meeting, Wednesday, January 5, 1921, at 7.30 p.m., in Lecture Hall of Boston Public Library. Twelve lessons.

This course includes instruction in outlining and delivering addresses for various occasions; public reading; oral discussions and parliamentary procedure. It is open to those who have had the equivalent of a high school course in English. Enrollment charge, $1; reference book extra.

OTHER COURSES OFFERED FOR CORRESPONDENCE AND CLASS INSTRUCTION.

In addition to the courses outlined above, the Division of University Extension offers FREE instruction in approximately one hundred other subjects. All the courses listed below are given by correspondence, and most of them are offered for class instruction when not duplicating educational work provided at nominal cost by other institutions. Unless otherwise stated in the descriptions, instruction is given both in class and by correspondence. Twenty students must enroll to form a class. Each course consists of twenty lessons unless otherwise stated. Starred (*) courses are of college grade.

The charges indicated represent the cost to the student not for instruction, which is furnished by the State, but only for postage, or travelling expenses, lesson sheets, and certain other equipment. Full information may be procured by applying to JAMES A. MOYER, Director, Division of University Extension, Room 217, State House, Boston 9, Mass.

COURSES IN LANGUAGE.

Elementary English. Grammar and composition as given in high schools. Extra lessons given to include preparation for college entrance examinations. By correspondence only. $2.

English Composition A*. Open only to those who have had the course in Elementary English or its equivalent. $2; textbooks extra.

English Composition AA*. Continuation of English Composition A. Open only to those who have had the course in English Composition A or its equivalent. $2; textbooks extra.

English Composition B.* Courses I, II, and III. Courses in composition, including the preparation of manuscripts. Ten lessons. $1 for each course; textbooks extra.

Appreciation of English Literature.* $1; textbooks extra.

English for Americans of Foreign Birth. Courses I, II, III, IV. Very elementary. By correspondence only. $1 for each course.

English for Business. Open to all who read and write English readily. $3.

Oral English—General Public Speaking. $1; textbooks extra.

Elementary Spanish. By correspondence only. $3.

Commercial Spanish.* Open only to those who have completed the course in Elementary Spanish or its equivalent. $3.

French. Courses I, II, III, IV, V. Courses I, III, V, $3; others, $2.

Conversational French. (Offered only by class.) $1; textbooks extra.

Elementary Italian. Open only to those who have had a course in Elementary English or its equivalent. $3.

Conversational Italian. (Offered only by class.) $3.

Elementary Latin. (In preparation.) $2.

COURSES IN HISTORY AND GOVERNMENT.

Elementary United States History and Government. General courses equivalent to the work given in this subject in New England high schools. By correspondence only. $2.

United States History A (Period 1760 to 1830)*. Advanced course equivalent to similar courses offered in college (twenty-four lessons). $2; textbooks extra.

American Government.* Advanced course in government, including particularly a study of the Constitution of the United States. $2; textbooks extra.

Civics. Ten lessons. $2.

Civics for Americans of Foreign Birth. Open only to those who have a fair command of English. $2.

Civics for Naturalization. Ten lessons. $2.

American Citizenship. Of special interest to prospective women voters. In classes only. $1.

COURSES IN ECONOMICS.

Business Economics. Eight lessons. $2.
Elements of Economics. Introductory course equivalent to the first course given in Massachusetts colleges. $2; textbooks extra.

Sociology.* $2; textbooks extra.

Practical Sociology. In classes only. $1.

Money and Banking. $2; textbooks extra.

COURSES IN EDUCATION.

Applied Educational Psychology. $2.50.

Methods of Teaching English to Immigrants. $2.

Americanization—Organization and Supervision. In classes only. Tuition free.

Methods of Teaching in Secondary Schools. (1) Mathematics, or (2) English. $2; textbooks extra.

COURSES IN MATHEMATICS.

Elementary Applied Arithmetic. A short unit course for adults who wish to review addition, subtraction, etc., common fractions, and decimals. $1.

Practical Applied Mathematics. For men employed in shops and factories. $2.

Shop Arithmetic. $3.

Practical Mathematics for Electricians. $2.

Slide Rule and its Use. Open to those who have had the course in Practical Applied Mathematics. Charge for postage, lesson sheets, and practice slide rule, $3. To those furnishing their own slide rule the charge is $1.

Practical Mechanics. Simpler problems in mechanics likely to be met in shop work and practical engineering. $2.50.

Advanced Shop Mathematics. $2.50.

Elementary Algebra. Includes subject-matter required for entrance examinations in New England colleges. By correspondence only. $2.

Elementary Geometry. Includes plane geometry as required for college entrance examinations. By correspondence only. $2.

Solid Geometry. Continuation of the course in Elementary Geometry. By correspondence only. $2.

Advanced Algebra.* Advanced course in Algebra equivalent to similar courses offered in colleges. $4.

Trigonometry.* Course equivalent to those offered in colleges. $3.

Statics—Elements of Mechanics. Calculation of the stresses in structures used ordinarily in mechanical engineering, cranes, derrick crabs, roof trusses, etc. $2; textbook extra.

Practical Calculus. Ten lessons. $2.

COMMERCIAL AND MANAGEMENT COURSES.

Business Arithmetic. By correspondence only. $2.

Elementary Bookkeeping. By correspondence only. $3.50, including all material.

Stenography. A brief course for beginners. By correspondence only. $3.

Typewriting. Instruction in touch system of writing. By correspondence only. $3.

Penmanship Improvement. $1.

Commercial Correspondence. $4.

Elementary Accounting. Sixteen lessons. $4.

Principles of Accounting. Sixteen lessons. $4.

Industrial Accounting.* Sixteen lessons. $5.

Industrial Organization.* $4; textbooks extra.

Office Organization. $4.

Retail Salesmanship. Ten lessons. $3.

Advertising. Twelve lessons. $2; textbooks extra.

Business Law. $2; textbooks extra.

COURSES IN DRAWING.

Shop Sketching. Planned for shop men who wish to acquire the ability (1) to read drawings and blue prints, and (2) to make pencil sketches of machine parts. No tracing or other ink work is required. By correspondence only. $2; instruments and materials extra.

Mechanical Drawing. The course has been divided into two parts of twenty lessons each.

PART I. Trains in use of drawing instruments; simple drawing problems. By correspondence only. $2; instruments and materials extra.

PART II. More advanced work,—as conventions used in structural steel work, plumbing, steam fitting, electrical work, patent drawing, etc. $3; instruments and materials extra.

Architectural Drawing. By correspondence only. Open only to those who have had the course in Mechanical Drawing (Part I.) or its equivalent. $3.

Advanced Mechanical Drawing (Descriptive Geometry)* Covers the subject as taught in engineering schools. $3.

Blueprint and Plan Reading. $1.

Plan Drawing and Estimating. In two parts:

A. PLAN DRAWING. A brief course with the object of teaching the conventional methods of making plans, elevations, and general details of building. Ten lessons. $1. Instruments required are extra.

B. ESTIMATING. Open only to those who have had some experience in building and construction or the course in Plan Drawing. Ten lessons. $1.

Practical Machine Design. $5.

Free-hand Drawing. MR. ANSON K. CROSS, of the Massachusetts Normal Art School, Instructor. By correspondence only. Cross drawing glass used. $2.

Show-card Writing. By correspondence only. $5, including equipment.

COURSES IN ENGINES AND BOILERS.

Practical Steam Engineering. $4.

Gas and Oil Engines. $2.

Gasoline Automobiles. Ten lessons. $5.

Heat. Intended to supply the fundamental and practical knowledge necessary for the successful study of heat-using machinery. $3.

Engineering Thermodynamics. $4.

Fuels. Ten lessons. $2.50.

Steam Boilers.* $4.

Steam Engines.* $4.

Steam Turbines.* $5.

COURSES IN HEATING, VENTILATING, AND POWER PLANTS.

Heating and Ventilating.* Open only to those who have had the course in Shop Sketching or its equivalent. $5.

Power Plant Economics.* $5.

Testing of Power Plants.* Offered for class instruction only. $5.

Locomotive Maintenance. Offered for class instruction only. $1; text-books extra.

Refrigeration.* $4.

Heating and Lighting for Janitors. $2.

COURSES IN ELECTRICITY.

Practical Electricity. Open only to those who have had the course in Practical Applied Mathematics or its equivalent. $3.

Dynamo-Electric Machinery. Open only to those who have had the course in Practical Electricity or its equivalent. $3.

Theory of Alternating Currents.* Advanced Course. Open only to those who have had the course in Dynamo-Electric Machinery and Practical Calculus or their equivalents. $5.

Electric Railways. Open only to those who have had the course in Practical Electricity or its equivalent. $3.

Electric Transmission.* Open only to those who have had courses in Dynamo-Electric Machinery and Alternating Currents. $5.

Electric Wiring. By correspondence only. Open only to those who have had the course in Practical Electricity or its equivalent plus practical experience. $4.

COURSES IN STRUCTURAL, HIGHWAY, AND HYDRAULIC ENGINEERING.

Materials of Construction. Ten lessons. $2.

Lumber and its Uses. Ten lessons. $3.50.

Concrete and its Uses. Twelve lessons. $2.

Strength of Materials. $3.

Elements of Structures.* $3.

Highway Engineering. Instruction given by a specialist in the Massachusetts Highway Commission. Ten lessons. $3.

Plumbing. By correspondence only (ten lessons). $5.

Steel Building Design.* $2; text-books extra.

Bridge Design.* $2; textbooks extra.

Reinforced Concrete Construction.* $4.50.

Hydraulics. Practical course giving only the essentials as regards theory. $3.50; text-books extra.

Water Supply and Irrigation.* Offered for class instruction only. $2; textbooks extra.

COURSES IN HOMEMAKING.

Exterior Home Decoration. Six lessons. $1.

Interior Home Decoration. Six lessons. $3.

Study of Fabrics. Eight lessons. $3.

Materials for Women's Clothing. Of special value to those who wish to dress suitably on moderate expenditure. No knowledge of chemistry or of mathematics is necessary in this course. Six lessons. $2.

Foods and Nutrition. This is the course previously announced as Elementary Dietetics. Twelve lessons. $2.

Dietetics.* This is an advanced course in the selection and preparation of foods. Fourteen lessons. $3.

Household Management. Eight lessons. $2.

NATURAL SCIENCE.

Civic Biology (Botany, Zoölogy, and Physiology). Of interest and practical assistance to teachers in elementary schools, to social workers, and to women who plan to take up nursing. $2.

SPECIAL INDUSTRIAL COURSES.

Safety Engineering. This course is designed to enable men in charge of factories and building operations to do effective work in preventing industrial accidents. Twelve lessons. $3.

Lowell Institute Preparatory Course. A review course in subjects required for entrance to the Lowell Institute Evening School for Industrial Foremen. Enrolled students will be expected to have completed the essential part of standard courses in Arithmetic, Algebra (to quadratic equations), and Plane Geometry (twenty lessons). $6.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Civil Service Preparatory Course. In the interest of prospective students who need only certain subjects the course has been divided into the following parts. Students are advised to enroll in one part at a time.

PART I. Arithmetic (fourteen lessons): charge for lesson sheets, stationery, and textbook, $2.

PART II. English and Report Writing, Spelling, and Penmanship (seventeen lessons): charge for lesson sheets, stationery, and textbook, $2.

PART III. Geography, Civil Government, and Postal Information (nine lessons): charge for lesson sheets, stationery, and textbook, $1.50.

PART IV. Police or Fire Service: preparation for promotional examinations in both departments (thirty lessons): charge for lesson sheets, stationery, and textbooks, $4.

COURSES IN TEXTILES.

Textile Processes and Calculations. In classes only. (Ten lessons.) $1.

Textiles—Elements of Design. In classes only. (Sixteen lessons.) $1; textbook and materials extra.

Chemistry of Textiles. In classes only. $2; textbooks and laboratory materials extra.

Commission on Extension Courses.

For circular describing these courses and further information, apply to COMMISSION ON EXTENSION COURSES, 19 University Hall, Cambridge.

EVENING COURSES.

Elementary Economics. PROFESSOR EDMUND E. DAY, Harvard University. Three hours a week. Full course. Fee, $5.

Economic and Industrial Development of Europe and the United States. DR. EDMOND E. LINCOLN, Harvard University. Three hours a week, for the first half-year. Half-course. Fee, $2.50.

Programmes of Social Reconstruction, including Socialism in its various forms, Bolshevism, Communism, Anarchism, and the Single Tax. PROFESSOR THOMAS N. CARVER, Harvard University. Three hours a week, for the first half-year. Half-course. Fee, $2.50.

Principles of Sociology. PROFESSOR THOMAS N. CARVER, Harvard University. Three hours a week, for the second half-year. Half-course. Fee, $2.50.

Elementary English Composition. MR. F. W. C. HERSEY, Harvard University. One hour a week and a section meeting every two weeks. Half-course. Fee, $5.

The English Drama. PROFESSOR E. CHARLTON BLACK, Boston University. Two hours a week and a section meeting for the first half-year. Half-course. Fee, $2.50.

The Novel and Short Story. PROFESSOR E. CHARLTON BLACK, Boston University. Two hours a week and a section meeting, for the second half-year. Half-course. Fee, $2.50.

Second-Year French. PROFESSOR JAMES GEDDES, JR., Boston University. Two hours a week. Half-course. Fee, $5.

Democratic Citizenship. PROFESSOR FREDERICK A. CLEVELAND, Boston University. Three hours a week. Full course. Fee, $5.

History of European Civilization from the Renaissance to the Present Time. PROFESSOR H. M. VARRELL, Simmons College. Three hours a week. Full course. Fee, $5.

Elementary Spanish. PROFESSOR ERNEST F. LANGLEY, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Two hours a week. Half-course. Fee, $5.

Second-Year Spanish. PROFESSOR ERNEST F. LANGLEY, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Two hours a week. Half-course. Fee, $5.

AFTERNOON COURSES.

Educational Measurement. PROFESSOR WALTER F. DEARBORN, Harvard University. One hour and a half a week, for the first half-year. Half-course. Fee, $2.50.

Teachers' Training Course in French. PROFESSOR L. J. A. MERCIER, Harvard University. Two hours a week. Half-course. Fee, $5. Limited to twenty students.

Teaching and the Supervision of Teaching in Elementary Schools. PROFESSOR HENRY W. HOLMES, Harvard University. One hour a week and conferences. Half-course. Fee, $5.

High School Problems. PROFESSOR ARTHUR H. WILDE, Boston University. One hour a week. Quarter-course. Fee, $5.

Administration of Elementary Schools. MR. GEORGE A. MIRICK, Harvard University. One hour a week. Quarter-course. Fee, $5.

Advanced English Composition. PROFESSOR DALLAS LORE SHARP, Boston University.

One hour a week and conferences. Half-course. Fee, $15.

Johnson, His Circle and the Club. PROFESSOR COPELAND, Harvard University. One hour a week and section meetings. Half-course. Fee, $5.

Elementary French. PROFESSOR JAMES GEDDES, JR., Boston University. Two hours a week. Half-course. Fee, $5.

Intermediate French. PROFESSOR JAMES GEDDES, JR., Boston University. Two hours a week. Half-course. Fee, $5.

Economic and Historical Geography of Greater Boston. PROFESSOR ELIZARETH F. FISHER, Wellesley College. One hour a week. One-third course. Fee, $5.

Analysis and Appreciation of Music. PROFESSOR JOHN P. MARSHALL, Boston University. One hour a week and conferences. Half-course. Fee, $5.

SATURDAY COURSES.

Botany. PROFESSOR W. J. V. OSTERHOUT, Harvard University. Two hours a week, for the first half-year. Quarter-course. Fee, $2.50.

Educational Measurement (Second Course). PROFESSOR WALTER F. DEARBORN, Harvard University. Two hours a week, for the second half-year. Half-course. Fee, $2.50.

Industrial and Commercial Geography. PROFESSOR ELIZABETH F. FISHER, Wellesley College. Two hours a week, for the first half-year. One-third course. Fee, $2.50.

Dynamical and Structural Geology. PROFESSOR GEORGE H. BARTON, Teachers' School of Science. Two hours a week, for a half-year. One-third course. Fee, $2.50.

Mineralogy. PROFESSOR GEORGE H. BARTON, Teachers' School of Science. Two hours a week for a half-year. One-third course. Fee, $2.50.

Zoology. PROFESSOR GEORGE H. PARKER, Harvard University. Two hours a week, for the first half-year. Quarter-course. Fee, $2.50.

Boston University.

COURSES FOR TEACHERS, 1920-1921.

Saturday and Late Afternoon Courses, leading to the degree of A.B. or S.B. offered by Boston University, College of Liberal Arts, during the first semester, September 18 to January 24, 1921, and the second semester, February 5 to June 4. For further information address PROFESSOR A. H. RICE, 688 Boylston Street, Boston 17, Mass.

Anglo-Saxon. By PROFESSOR MARSHALL L. PERRIN.

Architecture. By FRANK CHOUTEAU BROWN.

Chemistry. by PROFESSOR LYMAN C. NEWELL.

Drama. By PROFESSOR JOSEPH R. TAYLOR.

Education. By ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT J. E. BURKE, Boston Public Schools.

English. By PROFESSOR E. CHARLTON BLACK and PROFESSOR DALLAS LORE SHARP.

French. By ASSISTANT PROFESSOR S. M. WAXMAN and MR. DE ANDRIA.

German. By PROFESSOR MARSHALL L. PERRIN.

History. By ASSISTANT PROFESSOR WARREN O. AULT and ASSISTANT PROFESSOR RALPH V. HARLOW.

Latin. By PROFESSOR A. H. RICE and PROFESSOR DONALD CAMERON.

Music. By PROFESSOR J. P. MARSHALL of Boston University, PROFESSOR C. G. HAMILTON and MR. ROBINSON of Wellesley College, MR. F. W. ARCHIBALD, MR. PERCY GRAHAM, and MR. A. H. MORSE.

Physical Instruction. By MISS RACHEL L. HARDWICK.

Physics. By PROFESSOR NORTON A. KENT.

Psychology and Philosophy. By PROFESSOR E. C. WILM.

Sociology. By ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR ERNEST R. GROVES.

Spanish. By ASSISTANT PROFESSOR S. M. WAXMAN and PROFESSOR S. CORNEJO.

Vocational Guidance. By MR. FREDERICK J. ALLEN.

Franklin Union.

(Established from the bequest of Benjamin Franklin.)

Registration and conferences with instructors on Monday evening, Sept. 20, and Wednesday evening, Sept. 22, at 7.15. Evening classes open on Monday evening, September 27, 1920, at 7.15. Evening classes are held from 7.15 to 9.15. Instruction is intended to supplement the daily work of men in the trades or industries and aims to give in a practical way the technical training which can not be readily picked up in the shop. For catalogues and further information address: WALTER B. RUSSELL, Director, Berkeley and Appleton Streets, Boston 18, Mass.

EVENING COURSES.

Industrial Electricity. Three years. Certificate granted. Class room and laboratory practice. Fees—first year, $12; second year, $15; third year, $18. Entrance examination in Arithmetic through fractions.

Special Electricity. Six months. Two evenings each week. Fee, $12. For power plant operators.

Special Electricity. Six months, starting January 3, 1921. Two evenings each week. Fee, $12.

Electrical Drafting. Six months, two evenings each week. Fee, $15. Starts September 29.

Principles of Telephony. Two years. Certificate granted. Two evenings each week, 7 to 9. Fee, $15 per year. Class room and laboratory.

Structures and Surveying. Nine following subjects constitute course, for the completion of which a certificate is granted:—

Trigonometry and Surveying Calculations. Three months, two evenings each week, starting September 28. Fee, $8.

Surveying Computations and Office Practice. Three months, two evenings each week, starting January 4, 1921. Fee, $8.

Railroad Curves and Earth Work. Three months, two evenings each week, starting September 27. Fee, $8.

Surveying Practice. Nine Saturday afternoons, 1.45 to 5.30, starting March 26, 1921. Fee, $10.

Structural Detailing and Drafting. Two years. Certificate granted. Three evenings each week. Fee, $18 per year.

Applied Mechanics and Testing. Six months, two evenings each week, starting September 28. Fee, $15. Requirements—algebra, geometry and trigonometry; high school education desirable.

Structural Design. Six months, two evenings each week, starting September 29. Fee, $15.

Theory of Bridge Design. Six months, two evenings each week, starting September 28. Fee, $15.

Theory of Reinforced Concrete. Three months, two evenings each week. Fee, $10.

Industrial Chemistry. Four years. Certificate granted for completion of third year. Three evenings each week. Special emphasis on laboratory practice and commercial analyses. Fees, $20 per year.

Machine Construction. A general mechanical course. Two years. Certificate granted. Three evenings each week. Fee, $15 per year. Requirements, arithmetic and mechanical drawing.

Mechanical Drawing. Six months, three evenings each week. Fee, $12.

Advanced Machine Drawing. Six months, two evenings each week. Fee, $15.

Sheet Metal Drafting. Six months, two evenings each week, starting September 28. Fee, $12.

Ship Design and Calculations. Two years. Certificate granted. Two evenings each week, starting October 1. Fee, $10 per year.

Blueprint Reading for Ship Fitters. Six months. Two evenings each week, starting September 29. Fee, $10.

Navigation. Three months. Two evenings each week, starting September 29. Fee, $10. An advanced course in this subject will be organized to start on January 3, 1921, for 24 evenings, if the registration warrants. Two evenings each week. Fee, $10.

Steam Engines and Boilers. Two years. Certificate granted. Two evenings each week. Fee, $10 per year.

Firing. Three months. Classes starting in September and January. Three evenings each week. Fee, $7 each class.

Special Firing (Operators). Three months. Classes starting in September and January. Fee, $7 each class. Three evenings each week.

Practical Science. Six months. Three evenings each week. Registration fee, $10.

Preparatory Course for the Lowell Institute School for Industrial Foremen. Approximately one hundred evenings. Fee, $25. Entrance examination (arithmetic through fractions and decimals), Sept. 20 and 22. Classes starting in September and January.

Special Mathematics and Science. Six months, three evenings each week. Fee, $15.

Heating and Ventilating. Three years. Certificate granted for completion of second year. Two evenings each week, starting September 30. Fees, first year, $12; second year, $15; third year, $18.

Architectural Working Drawing. Two years. Certificate granted. Two evenings each week. Fee, first year, $10; second year, $15.

Estimating. For architects and builders. Six months. Two evenings each week, starting September 30. Fee, $15.

Automobile Engines. Elementary and advanced sections. Three months. Classes starting in September and January. Two evenings each week. Fees, Elementary Course, $8; Advanced Course, $10.

Expert Watch Adjusting. Conducted under the auspices of the New England Watchmakers' Club. Classes meet on Wednesday evenings. January to May, inclusive.

Lowell Institute Free Evening School for Industrial Foremen.

Under the Auspices of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Trustee of the Lowell Institute has established, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a Free Evening School for Industrial Foremen, comprising at present three Courses, a Mechanical, an Electrical, and a Buildings Course, each extending over two years.

The Courses of Instruction. These Courses are intended to bring the systematic study of applied science within the reach of young men who are following industrial pursuits and desire to fit themselves for higher positions, but are unable to attend Courses during the day. The subjects included in the Courses are as follows:—

First-year Mechanical and Electrical Courses. Mathematics; Physics and Elementary Electricity; Elements of Mechanism, and Drawing.

Second-year Mechanical Course. Elements of Thermodynamics, the Steam-engine and Boilers; Valve-gears; Applied Mechanics; Hydraulics; Testing Laboratory; Steam and Hydraulic Laboratory; Mechanism and Machine Design.

Second-year Electrical Course. Elements of Thermodynamics, the Steam-engine and Boilers; Valve-gears; Steam Laboratory; Applied Electricity, I; Applied Electricity, II; Electrical Testing Laboratory; and Laboratory of Dynamo Electric Machinery.

First-year Buildings Course. Mathematics; Physics and Elementary Electricity; Elements of Mechanism, and Drawing; Structural Mechanics and Graphic Statics; Steam and Hydraulic Machinery; and Heating and Ventilation.

Second Year. Materials and Testing Materials; Structural Design; Foundations and Building Construction; Electric Machinery and Electrical Laboratory; Electric Wiring and Lighting; Steam Laboratory; and Building Laws, Contracts, Sanitation, etc.

Those who complete satisfactorily the required Courses of the two years and pass the examinations are given Certificates. The present school year will begin October 6, 1920. Attendance from 7.30 to 9.30 for three or four evenings a week is required, in addition to outside study.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION. To be admitted to the first-year course, the applicant must be at least eighteen years of age and pass satisfactorily entrance examinations in Arithmetic (including the Metric System), Elementary Algebra, Plane Geometry, and Mechanical Drawing. These examinations may be, in a measure, of a competitive nature, and considerable weight will be attached to the applicant's occupation and practical experience. The courses are open only to those who are ambitious and willing to study.

A circular giving detailed information regarding the nature of the entrance examinations and other requirements may be obtained by sending a stamped, addressed envelope to the Director, PROFESSOR CHARLES F. PARK, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge.

Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst.

The correspondence course term begins October 1, after which courses in agriculture or in home economics may be started at any time until May 1, 1921, and may be continued through the month of June.

The college, through the Extension Service, is offering courses of from five to fifteen lessons in nineteen subjects for the 1920-21 term, representing the various branches of the science and practice of agriculture and home economics. The courses in poultry, soils, vegetable gardening and fruit growing continue the most popular, although many students take courses in field crops, farm management, forestry, or fertilizers.

For the first time a certificate will be given for completion of correspondence courses this year. All fees for courses have been removed to students within the State, except in the case of courses which include material equivalent to a text book, for which the $2 fee will still be charged for the course.

While it is intended that each course shall approach as closely as possible collegiate work, most of the courses will not present much difficulty to interested students of the upper high school grades. They are planned as outlines of study for prospective agriculturists and for home gardeners and home makers who are unable to undertake resident work at the college.

Catalogues describing the correspondence courses may be obtained by addressing
SUPERVISOR OF CORRESPONDENCE COURSES,
Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, Mass.

Massachusetts Normal Art School.

(Exeter, Corner of Newbury Street, Boston.)

Registration for the Free Evening Drawing Classes connected with the Massachusetts Normal Art School will take place on Monday evening, October 4, at 7 o'clock. Registration must be in person.

DANIEL O. BREWSTER,
Curator of the Evening School.

Northeastern College.

BOSTON YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

Catalogues may be obtained by addressing THE SECRETARY, Northeastern College, 316 Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass. All inquirers should state which school interests them.

School of Law. Evening Sessions. Four-year course in preparation for the bar, and leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

School of Commerce and Finance. Evening Session. Three and four-year courses in Business Administration and Professional Accountancy, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Commercial Science.

Co-operative School of Engineering. Day Sessions. Four-year courses in Civil, Chemical, Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering in co-operation with business firms.

Evening School of Engineering. Evening Sessions. Four-year courses in Civil, Chemical, Electrical, Structural, and Mechanical Engineering.

School of Liberal Arts. Evening Sessions. Courses corresponding in content and quality to those given in day colleges.

AFFILIATED SCHOOLS.

Huntington School. Private Day School. Courses in preparation for college and scientific schools.

Northeastern Preparatory School. Evening Sessions. Subjects which are given in the eighth grade of a day grammar school and the four years of a day high school.

Automobile School. Day and Evening Sessions. Short term courses in the care, upkeep, and repair of gasoline cars.

Simmons College.

For application forms address THE SECRETARY, Simmons College, The Fenway, Boston 17, Mass.

Clothing B. Elementary Dressmaking. This course includes instruction in the making of waists and dresses, the use of commercial patterns, and the selection of materials. MISS DAVIS. Wednesday and Thursday, from 12.40 to 2.25. Throughout the year, beginning September 22, 1920. Tuition fee, $24; laboratory fee, $3 in addition.

Clothing C. Elementary Millinery. A course intended for students who wish help with home problems in millinery. MISS SPEAR. Monday and Wednesday, from 10.50 to 12.35. During the second term, beginning January 3, 1921. Tuition fee, $8.

Clothing E. Millinery. A general and practical course in fitting, making, and trimming hats, together with a consideration of materials, new and old. MISS SPEAR. Open to applicants familiar with the processes of plain sewing. Saturday, from 9.30 to 12; eight lessons, beginning October 2, 1920. Tuesday, from 9.30 to 12; eight lessons, beginning April 5, 1921. Either series may be taken without the other. Tuition fee, $5 each series.

Clothing G. Millinery. A course similar to Clothing E. MISS SPEAR. Open to applicants familiar with the processes of plain sewing. Thursday, from 1.35 to 4.15. Eight lessons, beginning September 30, 1920; eight lessons, beginning February 17, 1921. Either series may be taken without the other. Tuition fee, $5 each series.

Dietetics 31. A brief non-technical treatment of the fundamental principles of human nutrition, with special application to the problems of the public health nurse. PROFESSOR BLOOD, MISS LITTLEFIELD. Trade Union College.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF

The Boston Central Labor Union.

The Trade Union College was established by the Boston Central Labor Union in the conviction that organized labor must develop its intellectual resources if it is to realize its hopes in the coming social and industrial order.

The Fall term opens Monday, October 4. The courses, except when otherwise announced, will be given in the recitation rooms of the English High School.

Elementary English Composition. Mondays and Thursdays, October 4 to December 9, and a second evening each week for drill. Instructors for this course are named by the Boston School Committee.

Advanced English Composition. Mondays, October 4 to December 6. IDA ALICE SLEEPER, Instructor in English, Simmons College.

Practice in Discussion. Wednesday, October 6 to December 8. ALFRED DWIGHT SHEFFIELD, Assistant Professor of Rhetoric, Wellesley College.

Literature. Tuesday, October 5 to December 7. ROBERT EMMONS ROGERS, Assistant Professor of English and History, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Law. Saturdays, October 9 to December 11. ARTHUR BENSON, of the Boston Bar.

This introductory course will deal with the law as it bears upon industrial relations. Among other topics it will treat more specifically of the law as affecting labor unions, injunctions in labor cases, interference with contracts between employers and employes, and compulsory and voluntary arbitration of labor disputes. It will explain the common law principles relating to the employers' liability for injury to employes, statutory employers' liability, and Workmen's Compensation Acts.

The instruction will be conducted in part by class discussion of illustrative cases.

Labor Movement. Wednesday, October 6 to December 8. SARA HENRY STITES, Head of the Department of Economics, Simmons College.

Other Courses. The Board of Control will make provision for any other course that belongs within the scope of the Trade Union College whenever as many as thirty students signify a demand for it. The request for such a course, signed by the applicants, should be in the hands of the Secretary-Treasurer by October 1st.

Recreation Class. From 8 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday evenings, October 6 to December 8, the Drill Hall of the English High School will be open to students of the Trade Union College for recreation activities. There will be a class in gymnastics and dancing. Other social activities will be arranged by the Students' Association.

HOW TO ENROLL.

Enrollments for the courses may be made at the office of the secretary, Room 634, Little Building, 80 Boylston Street; at the offices of the Central Labor Union, 987 Washington Street; at the first meeting of each course.

FEEES.

A fee of $2.50 for each course is to be paid at the time of enrollment. An attendance card received in return will give admission to the course designated. Checks may be made payable to the Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Mabel Gillespie, Room 634, Little Building, 80 Boylston Street. Telephone, Beach 5251.

AN EXTENSION OF THE LIBRARY SERVICE.

The Boston Public Library is one of the world's important collections of books; the mass and variety of its resources, the beauty and fitness of its building, the rarity of its treasures, are a source of pride to every Bostonian. But for many readers who seek from the Library either relaxation or simple information, the very size and richness of the collection, the inevitable complexity of its organization, are obstacles. For such persons the Branch Libraries, with their limited collections of books, largely on open shelves, seem homelike compared with the great institution in Copley Square; they are easy to use, and the personal touch between librarians and readers gives to each a devoted clientele, who continue to make use of them, in spite of their confessedly small resources.

It has long been the desire of the Librarian to find some means of supplying in the Central Library the advantages which the small and compact Branch Libraries possess, in a prompt and direct service to the large and important class of readers who are neither primarily students, nor simply in search of fiction to while away a leisure hour. This desire has at last found realization in the three rooms recently opened on the ground floor of the Library, at the right of the stairway. They are known respectively as the Information Office, the Government Service Room, and the Open-Shelf Room.

The Information Office, through which both the other rooms are entered, is being developed as a first-aid station for all who come to the Library seeking information of any kind. If the visitor is a stranger, it is the function of this office to direct him about the building, wherever he wishes to go. If he wants a single fact — an address, the time of arrival of a train, the pronunciation of a word, the location of a town — he is, if possible, given the information at once, that he may be spared the time and effort necessary to obtain it from one of the more highly organized departments of the Library. If his needs go beyond this, the office seeks to direct him to the place — either a department of the Library or an outside source of information — where he may most surely find what he desires.

The room is small, but it is already well equipped with the tools for carrying on its work. It contains a comprehensive collection of the latest directories of American cities, especially those in the neighborhood of Boston; this collection is to be enlarged, with a view to meeting all ordinary inquiries of this nature. On the walls hang maps of Boston and its vicinity, and there is a bulletin board for the announcement of coming events. On the shelves of the room are time-tables and railway guides; a complete set of the bulletins and announcements of educational institutions in the Boston district; guide-books and road-books; and a small collection of the most necessary works of reference, selected with a view to answering the questions most commonly asked. The room also contains a series of large filing-cases, in which are kept clippings, circulars, and other material of temporary interest on current topics, for the answering of questions which are important now, but will in a short time be obsolete. A number of these cases are used for a comprehensive collection of material on the subject of Vocational Training, assembled under the direction of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, who have assumed the responsibility of its maintenance. With the assistance of this collection one who desires to be trained for any trade or profession can learn immediately what schools give instruction in the subjects which he is seeking, and on what terms. In this room will also be placed the indexes and other clues to out-of-the-way information which are being organized with the help of the new Extension Service, an agency intended to supplement and aid the Public Library in becoming a more effective centre of information. One of the special resources of the room at present is a full set of the preliminary population returns of the Census of 1920; this is merely an example of the sort of information that is assembled here.

To the right of the Information Office is the Government Service Room, the work of which has already been described in an earlier issue of this Bulletin. The collection of Government material in this room is being constantly rounded out, as new needs are disclosed by the asking of new questions. The series of indexes to the publications of the Government has been made more complete, and files of the Monthly Labor Review and the Farmers' Bulletins have been placed on the shelves. The current documents issued by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts are also to be found in this room. The office is constantly in touch with the various departments of the National Government at Washington, and pressing questions are forwarded by mail or telegraph; in a number of cases, information of great value to citizens of Boston has been obtained in this way within forty-eight hours.

On the opposite side of the Information Office is the new Open-Shelf Room, the most interesting experiment tried in the Library for some time. Here have been placed, in attractive cases specially designed for the room, about 2500 selected volumes, chosen for their readability. These volumes are grouped in twenty-one classes, beginning with Biography and ending with Education. For the first time since the opening of the building, books are now easily accessible to all comers, in a convenient location near the main entrance. One need not use the catalogue, one need not sit and wait, one need not even go up stairs; one has only to walk around the shelves, select a book that attracts one, have it charged, and carry it home. The room combines the ease of use characteristic of the Branch Libraries with the wide range of choice possible only in a great collection; the shelves contain but a small number of volumes, but they are constantly replenished from a practically inexhaustible reservoir. There is no attempt to provide here any particular book or class of books; one who is looking for specific material is directed at once to the card catalogue and other resources in Bates Hall; but the person who simply wants something good to read finds here a variety of books that he has never heard of, which oftentimes just meet his taste. The room will have the effect of getting into circulation and making known many a good book that has escaped notice or been long forgotten. It should be added that the collection contains no fiction, except a selection in French, Italian, and Spanish; for English fiction the reader is directed, as in the past, to the open shelves long maintained in the Delivery Room.

The new rooms are a step in the direction of bringing the Library and its resources closer to the public. The Information Office answers with the least possible delay the question of the man in a hurry, or directs him to the place, in the Library or outside, where he can get his information most surely and quickly. The Government Service puts easily and promptly at the disposal of the people of Boston and its vicinity the vast stock of information in the possession of the United States Government. The Open-Shelf Room brings within the reach of readers a carefully selected collection of books in many fields of thought, in a place easy of access, with the minimum of machinery. All these activities mean a step forward in the efficient and generous service of the community.

TWO DAYS BEFORE BUNKER HILL.

This resolve by the Committee of Safety of the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts, was passed on June 15, 1775, two days before the Battle of Bunker Hill. The rumor that General Gage planned to occupy Charlestown Heights and Dorchester Heights (South Boston) had reached the committee, and authentic information was before the American commanders on June 13, to the effect that Gage intended to take Dorchester Heights on June 18.

A facsimile of another draft of this resolve is in Richard Frothingham's "History of the Siege of Boston," opposite page 116, and in William Lincoln's "Journals of the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts in 1774 and 1775; and of the Committee of Safety" (Boston, 1838), pages 568 and 569. The resolve is incorporated in with other resolves of the same date, and to it is added the following: "Ordered, That Capt. Benjamin White, and Col. Joseph Palmer, be a committee to join with a committee from the council of war, to proceed to Roxbury camp, there to consult with the general officers on matters of importance, and to communicate to them a resolve this day passed in this Committee respecting Bunker's hill in Charlestown, and Dorchester neck."

The assumption is that a number of this particular resolve were written, not printed, and distributed to various portions of the American Army before Boston.

Head Quarters 15 June 1775

Resolved in Council of War to take immediate possession of Bunker's Hill and Dorchester Neck.

In Committee of Safety.

Cambridge June 15. 1775

Whereas it appears of Importance to the Safety of this Colony, that possession of the Hill called Bunker's Hill in Charlestown be securely kept, and defended, & also some one hill or hills on Dorchester be likewise secured. Therefore Resolved Unanimously that it be recommended to the Council of War, that the above mentioned Bunker's Hill be maintained by sufficient force being posted there, and as the particular situation of Dorchester Neck is unknown to this Committee they advise that the Council of War, take and pursue such steps respecting the same, as to them shall appear to be for the security of this Colony. ---

Music.

No other class of books is more thoroughly dissociated from the general collection than is that relating to music. The titles even are not in the Public Catalogue, but are in the Fine Arts Department, adjoining and connected with the Allen A. Brown Music Room. For this reason it has been thought well to put the new titles in a separate group in the Quarterly Bulletin preceding the Allen A. Brown titles.

Exhibitions by the Fine Arts Department.

Central Library.

The Exhibitions are arranged to illustrate the Lectures given at the Library.

The Pilgrim Tercentenary Exhibition will remain open in the Exhibition Room of the Fine Arts Department during the season of 1920-1921.

This exhibition is believed to be the most significant of any in the country, in the number, importance, and variety of books relating to the history of Congregationalism, including the Separatist controversy and the Pilgrim and Puritan movements. With very few exceptions it contains all the important original sources in early New England history, and includes original early New England maps. The illustrations of the Pilgrim country in England and Holland were made specially for this exhibition from contemporary prints; the collection of photographs shown of the Pilgrims in Art is believed to be complete.

In addition to the above the following exhibitions will be arranged in connection with the lectures:—

Jan. 3.	Manners and Costume of the Olden Time.	Jan. 24.	Puvis de Chavannes.
	Philippine Islands.	Feb. 7.	Abraham Lincoln.

The Lowell Institute.

The TRUSTEE of the Lowell Institute under the will of John Lowell, Jr., maintains annually in the City of Boston various Courses of Public Lectures. For the present — the eighty-second — season five distinct Series are provided, as follows:—

FREE PUBLIC LECTURES IN HUNTINGTON HALL, in the Rogers Building,
491 Boylston Street.

FREE EVENING SCHOOL FOR INDUSTRIAL FOREMEN.
COLLEGIATE COURSES.

TEACHERS' SCHOOL OF SCIENCE.

FREE LECTURES IN KING'S CHAPEL ON CURRENT TOPICS IN THEOLOGY.

Further information in regard to each of the several Series is given below.

A. LAWRENCE LOWELL, Trustee.

W. T. SEDGWICK, Curator.

Free Public Lectures in Huntington Hall.

LOWELL INSTITUTE LECTURES open to the public will be given this year, as in recent years, in Huntington Hall, Rogers Building, 491 Boylston Street, Boston. The several Courses will be announced in advance, with full particulars, in the advertising columns of the Boston Evening Transcript and as far as possible in the Quarterly Bulletin of the Boston Public Library. They are briefly described on the next page.

Admission to the Huntington Hall Courses is Free, but only by Ticket (except as stated in paragraph 7 beyond), the number of tickets being limited by the capacity of the Hall.

Tickets are distributed to the public under the following rules:—

1. Admission tickets to the First Lecture of each Course will be mailed, one to each applicant, in the order of application, and until the supply is exhausted, to all persons whose letters of application are received at least two days before the beginning of any Course by the CURATOR of the LOWELL INSTITUTE, 491 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, and are accompanied by stamped, addressed envelopes. (See paragraphs 3 and 4 beyond.)

In such envelopes, when duly stamped and addressed, tickets will be mailed as soon as they are ready for distribution, and if the supply is not already exhausted. If, however, as often happens, the desired tickets are not ready for distribution, the envelopes received will be kept on file in the order of application; and, as a rule, tickets for any Course will be mailed to applicants a few days only before the actual beginning of that Course.

A separate envelope must be sent for EACH TICKET desired.

When tickets are in great demand, only ONE TICKET will be mailed to any one applicant or in any one stamped, addressed envelope.

2. Persons desiring to secure tickets for more than one Course must send A SEPARATE, STAMPED, ADDRESSED ENVELOPE FOR EACH TICKET, FOR EACH COURSE.

3. On and after the day on which a Course begins, any tickets left over for that Course may be obtained at the Office of the Lowell Institute, 491 Boylston Street, BETWEEN THE HOURS OF TEN A.M. AND FOUR P.M. (except Saturdays); or by sending to the Curator (with a specific request for such left-over tickets) a stamped, addressed envelope; but, inasmuch as it is intended to distribute tickets chiefly by mail, no tickets will be given out at the Office of the Lowell Institute for any Course before the day on which that Course begins.

4. Persons attending the First Lecture of any Course may, just before entering the Hall, EXCHANGE their Admission tickets to the First Lecture for TICKETS GOOD FOR RESERVED SEATS FOR THE ENTIRE COURSE.

5. In order to give all applicants equal opportunity, all reserved seat tickets are placed beforehand in envelopes, some containing one ticket good for one reserved seat, some containing two or more tickets good for adjoining reserved seats. These envelopes are then shuffled, and at the First Lecture of any Course all who desire to do so may, as just stated (see paragraph 4), EXCHANGE their First-lecture Admission tickets at tables in the vestibule, for envelopes, drawn by lot, containing COURSE tickets good for RESERVED SEATS.

6. ~~Two~~ Two or more persons wishing to sit together may, by surrendering together their First-lecture Admission tickets (see paragraph 4), exchange these, before entering the Hall, for envelopes containing Course tickets for ADJOINING RESERVED SEATS.

7. PERSONS WITHOUT TICKETS OF ANY KIND may usually obtain admission to the Hall (and almost always good seats) for any lecture by standing in line in the vestibule at the foot of the stairs. Such persons need not arrive until a few minutes before the lecture begins.

8. At all lectures in Huntington Hall THE DOORS ARE CLOSED WHEN THE LECTURE BEGINS AND NO ONE IS AFTERWARD ALLOWED TO ENTER.

Ticket holders are requested to return promptly to the Curator or to the Office, for the benefit of others, tickets which they find they cannot use.

A History of the Lowell Institute, by Harriette Knight Smith, giving a complete list of the lectures in previous years, the subjects of their lectures, etc., was published in 1898, but is now out of print.

THE SEVENTH COURSE will be eight lectures by EUGENE STEIN, Ex-Ambassador at the Russian Legation in Buenos Aires, Argentina, on Aspects of Russia and Russian Character. 1. FUNDAMENTAL ELEMENTS IN THE RUSSIAN NATIONAL CHARACTER. 2. AN INTERCULTURAL UNION. 3. RUSSIA UNDER THE FIRST ROMANOV. 4. RUSSIAN SERFDOM AS REFLECTED IN RUSSIAN LITERATURE. 5. PAN-SLAVISM AND THE EASTERN QUESTION. 6. ON SOME ASPECTS OF PRESENT-DAY RUSSIA. 7. NATIONALISM IN RUSSIAN PAINTING. 8. RUSSIAN ARCHITECTURE. On Mondays and Thursdays at eight o'clock in the evening, beginning Monday, January 24.

THE EIGHTH COURSE will be eight lectures by WILLIAM McDUGALL, Professor of Psychology in Harvard University, on Anthropology and History: the Influence of Anthropological Constitution on the Destinies of Nations. 1. HISTORY AND DEFINITION OF THE PROBLEM. 2. THE REALITY AND DIVERSITIES OF MENTAL ENDOWMENT. 3. THE PERSISTANCE OF DIVERSITIES. 4. DIVERSITIES EXPRESSED IN SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS. 5. CAUSES OF CHANGE OF ANTHROPOLOGICAL CONSTITUTION. 6. EFFECTS OF SUCH CHANGES. On Saturday afternoons at five o'clock, beginning Saturday, February 5.

THE NINTH COURSE will be six lectures by M. HENRY GUY, Professeur de littérature française à l'Université de Toulouse, Doyen de la Faculté des Lettres, Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur, etc., on Cyrano de Bergerac: La Tradition, La Réalité, La Poésie. 1. L'ESPRIT CHEVALERESQUE EN FRANCE. 2. LE VRAI CYRANO: SA VIE ET SES VOYAGES IMAGINAIRES. 3. LE VRAI CYRANO: SES ŒUVRES DRAMATIQUES. 4. LES ANCÊTRES DU "CYRANO" D'EDMOND ROSTAND DANS LA LITTÉRATURE FRANÇAISE DU XIX^e SIÈCLE. 5. LE "CYRANO" D'EDMOND ROSTAND: LES CIRCONSTANCES ET LE CARACTÈRE. 6. LE "CYRANO" D'EDMOND ROSTAND: LA POÉSIE ET LE SYMBOL. On Monday and Thursday afternoons at five o'clock, beginning Monday, February 14.

THE TENTH COURSE will be eight lectures by WILBUR C. ABBOTT, Professor of History in Harvard University, author of "The Expansion of Europe," etc., on Modern Revolutionary Movements. 1. THE ENGLISH REVOLUTION OF THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY. 2. THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION. 3. THE FRENCH REVOLUTION. 4. THE SPANISH-AMERICAN REVOLUTION. 5. THE REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENTS IN EUROPE 1815-32. 6. THE REVOLUTIONS OF 1848. 7. REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENTS 1860-70. 8. TWENTIETH-CENTURY REVOLUTIONS. On Tuesdays and Fridays at eight o'clock in the evening, beginning Tuesday, March 1.

Free Public Lectures in King's Chapel on Current Topics in Theology.

Under the Auspices of the Harvard Divinity School, the Andover Theological Seminary, and the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge.

LECTURES ON CURRENT TOPICS IN THEOLOGY will be given, as in recent years, in King's Chapel, Tremont Street, Boston. Admission is FREE and no tickets are required.

The First Course will be three lectures by PROFESSOR BENJAMIN W. BACON, D.D., LL.D., of Yale University, on THE CHURCH AT EPHESUS AND ITS GOSPEL. On Monday afternoons, January 3, 10, and 17, at 2.30 o'clock.

Public Educational Courses.

Massachusetts Department of Education.

Division of University Extension.

The Massachusetts Department of Education, Division of University Extension, offers free correspondence and class instruction to all residents of the Commonwealth. During the year 1920-1921 classes in Conversational Spanish, Conversational French, American Citizenship (Civics for Women), and Beginner's Oral English, will be organized by the Division to meet in the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library.

SCHEDULE OF CLASSES.

Subject.	Date of Meeting.	Enrollment Charge.
Conversational Spanish	Monday, Sept. 20, 1920	$1.00
Conversational French	Tuesday, Sept. 21, 1920	1.00
American Citizenship	Wednesday, Oct. 13, 1920	1.00
Oral English—Public Speaking	Wednesday, Jan. 5, 1921	1.00

As far as possible these classes will meet once a week at the time announced. Instruction is FREE, only a small charge being made in each course to cover the cost of travelling expenses, lesson material, textbooks (in certain courses), and other incidentals.

Persons who desire to enroll in any of these courses should apply at once, in person or by letter, to the DIVISION OF UNIVERSITY EXTENSION, Room 217, State House, Boston 9, Mass.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES TO BE GIVEN AT THE BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Conversational Spanish. First meeting, Monday, September 20, 1920, at 7.30 p.m., in Lecture Hall of Boston Public Library. Twenty lessons.

This is an elementary course in the practical use of Spanish. Only such words will be employed in the vocabulary as are used ordinarily in social and commercial life in Spanish speaking countries, especially those in South America. Enrollment is open to those who have no knowledge of the language. Class period one hour. Enrollment charge, $1; textbook extra.

Conversational French. First meeting, Tuesday, September 21, 1920, at 7.30 p.m., in Lecture Hall of Boston Public Library. Twenty lessons.

This is an elementary course in the practical use of the French language. The direct method of instruction is used. It is desirable, but not necessary, that persons enrolling have some knowledge of French grammar. Class period, one hour. Enrollment charge, $1; textbook extra.

American Citizenship. (Civics for Women.) First meeting, Wednesday, October 13, 1920, at 7.30 p.m., in Lecture Hall of Boston Public Library. Ten lessons.

This is a course which has been prepared with special reference to the needs of women for correct information regarding the conduct of governmental affairs and the duties of the different officers and departments of government. Enrollment charge, $1.

Beginner's Oral English—Public Speaking. First meeting, Wednesday, January 5, 1921, at 7.30 p.m., in Lecture Hall of Boston Public Library. Twelve lessons.

This course includes instruction in outlining and delivering addresses for various occasions; public reading; oral discussions and parliamentary procedure. It is open to those who have had the equivalent of a high school course in English. Enrollment charge, $1; reference book extra.

OTHER COURSES OFFERED FOR CORRESPONDENCE AND CLASS INSTRUCTION.

In addition to the courses outlined above, the Division of University Extension offers FREE instruction in approximately one hundred other subjects. All the courses listed below are given by correspondence, and most of them are offered for class instruction when not duplicating educational work provided at nominal cost by other institutions. Unless otherwise stated in the descriptions, instruction is given both in class and by correspondence. Twenty students must enroll to form a class. Each course consists of twenty lessons unless otherwise stated. Starred (*) courses are of college grade.

The charges indicated represent the cost to the student not for instruction, which is furnished by the State, but only for postage, or travelling expenses, lesson sheets, and certain other equipment. Full information may be procured by applying to JAMES A. MOYER, Director, Division of University Extension, Room 217, State House, Boston 9, Mass.

Show-card Writing. By correspondence only. $5, including equipment.

COURSES IN ENGINES AND BOILERS.

Practical Steam Engineering. $4.

Gas and Oil Engines. $2.

Gasoline Automobiles. Ten lessons. $5.

Heat. Intended to supply the fundamental and practical knowledge necessary for the successful study of heat-using machinery. $3.

Engineering Thermodynamics. $4.

Fuels. Ten lessons. $2.50.

Steam Boilers.* $4.

Steam Engines.* $4.

Steam Turbines.* $5.

COURSES IN HEATING, VENTILATING, AND POWER PLANTS.

Heating and Ventilating.* Open only to those who have had the course in Shop Sketching or its equivalent. $5.

Power Plant Economics.* $5.

Testing of Power Plants.* Offered for class instruction only. $5.

Locomotive Maintenance. Offered for class instruction only. $1; text-books extra.

Refrigeration.* $4.

Heating and Lighting for Janitors. $2.

COURSES IN ELECTRICITY.

Practical Electricity. Open only to those who have had the course in Practical Applied Mathematics or its equivalent. $3.

Dynamo-Electric Machinery. Open only to those who have had the course in Practical Electricity or its equivalent. $3.

Theory of Alternating Currents.* Advanced Course. Open only to those who have had the course in Dynamo-Electric Machinery and Practical Calculus or their equivalents. $5.

Electric Railways. Open only to those who have had the course in Practical Electricity or its equivalent. $3.

Electric Transmission.* Open only to those who have had courses in Dynamo-Electric Machinery and Alternating Currents. $5.

Electric Wiring. By correspondence only. Open only to those who have had the course in Practical Electricity or its equivalent plus practical experience. $4.

COURSES IN STRUCTURAL, HIGHWAY, AND HYDRAULIC ENGINEERING.

- Materials of Construction. Ten lessons. $2.
Lumber and its Uses. Ten lessons. $3.50.
Concrete and its Uses. Twelve lessons. $2.
Strength of Materials. $3.
Elements of Structures.* $3.
Highway Engineering. Instruction given by a specialist in the Massachusetts Highway Commission. Ten lessons. $3.
Plumbing. By correspondence only (ten lessons). $5.
Steel Building Design.* $2; text-books extra.
Bridge Design.* $2; textbooks extra.
Reinforced Concrete Construction.* $4.50.
Hydraulics. Practical course giving only the essentials as regards theory. $3.50; text-books extra.
Water Supply and Irrigation.* Offered for class instruction only. $2; textbooks extra.

COURSES IN HOMEMAKING.

- Exterior Home Decoration. Six lessons. $1.
Interior Home Decoration. Six lessons. $3.
Study of Fabrics. Eight lessons. $3.
Materials for Women's Clothing. Of special value to those who wish to dress suitably on moderate expenditure. No knowledge of chemistry or of mathematics is necessary in this course. Six lessons. $2.
Foods and Nutrition. This is the course previously announced as Elementary Dietetics. Twelve lessons. $2.
Dietetics.* This is an advanced course in the selection and preparation of foods. Fourteen lessons. $3.
Household Management. Eight lessons. $2.

NATURAL SCIENCE.

- Civic Biology (Botany, Zoölogy, and Physiology). Of interest and practical assistance to teachers in elementary schools, to social workers, and to women who plan to take up nursing. $2.

SPECIAL INDUSTRIAL COURSES.

- Safety Engineering. This course is designed to enable men in charge of factories and building operations to do effective work in preventing industrial accidents. Twelve lessons. $3.
Lowell Institute Preparatory Course. A review course in subjects required for entrance to the Lowell Institute Evening School for Industrial Foremen. Enrolled students will be expected to have completed the essential part of standard courses in Arithmetic, Algebra (to quadratic equations), and Plane Geometry (twenty lessons). $6.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Civil Service Preparatory Course. In the interest of prospective students who need only certain subjects the course has been divided into the following parts. Students are advised to enroll in one part at a time.

PART I. Arithmetic (fourteen lessons): charge for lesson sheets, stationery, and textbook, $2.

PART II. English and Report Writing, Spelling, and Penmanship (seventeen lessons): charge for lesson sheets, stationery, and textbook, $2.

PART III. Geography, Civil Government, and Postal Information (nine lessons): charge for lesson sheets, stationery, and textbook, $1.50.

Rules and Regulations of the Library.

The following lines contain a brief summary of the rules governing the use of the Library, the full text of which in pamphlet form may be had free. Every user of the Library is expected to be familiar with them.

The use of the Library is free to all.

Citizens, students, temporary sojourners, officers and men of the Army and Navy, and certain other persons may become card holders. Special privileges are granted also to teachers and clergymen, and loans of books are made upon deposit.

Application made in writing, with reference or student's certificate, secures a Library Card entitling the holder to draw books. Card holders must notify Registration Clerk of change of address. Cards are non-transferable and revocable, and registration may be cancelled. Lost cards entail penalty; responsibility continues. Cards must be presented and stamped regularly with each book drawn or returned.

Cards entitle the holder to two or four books for seven or fourteen days without renewal. Books are not transferable. There are limitations governing the issue of Seven-day books.

There are restrictions upon the lending for Home Use of certain books. These restrictions are shown in the Catalogue.

Any person may use books within the Library upon signing the proper form of application, promising to return them before leaving the room.

Fines of two cents a day and twenty-five cents per two weeks extra, for four weeks, and the full cost of replacing books, with loss of privileges until paid, are the penalty for overdetection. No exemption is granted except to children. Further detention is punishable by law.

Books must be used with care and all damage made good. Violations of this rule are punishable by fine and imprisonment.

Books must be returned when called for and are to be taken from the shelves only by employees, except in the open reference collections.

Conversation and other abuses are forbidden under penalty of expulsion. Damage to catalogues is punishable. Attendants must enforce the rules, but may be reported for incivility.

The Central Library is open daily except holidays, from 9 A.M., till 10 P.M., Sundays from 12 till 10 P.M., except that the summer closing hour is 9 P.M. both on week days and Sundays. The Branches are open at the hours posted therein and published in the Quarterly Bulletin.

HOUSE RULES.

A Coat Room is provided where garments and packages may be checked; but the Trustees assume no responsibility.

Dogs are not allowed in the building. Smoking is prohibited.

Employees are not, except in emergency, allowed to receive visitors during working hours.

If articles are lost or found in the Library Building the fact should be reported immediately, and the articles delivered, to the Officer in charge of the Issue Department.
